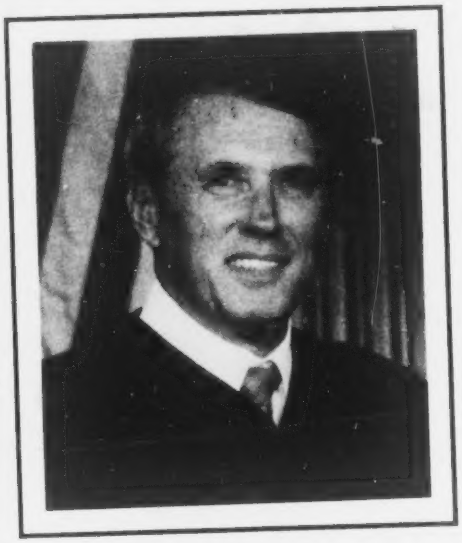
from the Chief Justice



It is my pleasure to present the FY 88 Judicial Report.

I want to thank the individuals who contributed to the timely publication of this report. That includes the Administrative Director of the Courts and his staff, the printer in the Supreme Court Clerk's Office, and the judges and staff of each court in our judicial system who were responsible for reporting to us the statistical and financial data that makes the reporting contained herein possible.

I also want to note my pleasure at being able to use a sketch of our new Arizona Courts Building on the cover of this report. Efforts to obtain a building began in 1979. Nine years later, largely due to the determined efforts of Justice James Duke Cameron, we have received approval to proceed with bidding on building construction, which is scheduled to begin in early 1989.

During FY 88, a total of 1,919,114 cases were filed in Arizona's courts; this is 107,635 more cases than were filed the previous year. The difference represents a 5.9 percent increase, which does not seem too startling until you realize that this year is not unique. Courts routinely face filing increases, especially the trial courts. There has been an increase of over 100,000 case filings in each of the last four years. The increase in case terminations has not been as high, but it has been steady. In fact, this year the municipal courts alone terminated over one million cases! These are not just lifeless statistics. Each case represents a very important event in at least one individual's life. Many have a much broader sphere of impact.

The judiciary is attempting to meet the public's need for just and timely resolution of disputes, but the challenge of doing so has grown disproportionately faster than the availability of resources with which to meet them.

In my State of the Judiciary address on March 4, 1987, I identified three major goals for my tenure as Chief Justice: obtaining state funding for the judicial system, improving the quality of justice in our state, and increasing the public's understanding of the judiciary.

I believe that state funding for the judiciary will help improve the Arizona judicial system in its ability to respond to increasing caseloads, particularly in those counties with a limited tax base. The quality of justice should not vary substantially between counties. Although the legislature did not act on the state funding proposal this year, I will continue to pursue this goal.

". . . state funding for the judiciary will help improve the Arizona judicial system . . ."

During the last year a number of steps have been taken to improve the quality of justice in Arizona as I mentioned in my 1987 address. The legislature approved a fifth panel of judges for the Court of Appeals, Division One. Courts implemented a new law requiring the automatic assignment of wages for payment of child support in all cases involving new and modified child support orders. A new tax court was created by the legislature. New Arizona Supreme Court Rule 28 now allows public input into rules of procedure for our courts. Judges and all court personnel have been required to attend at least 16 hours of continuing education.

Other improvements could be made, however. I am aware of some of these, such as increasing our research and management staff to respond more quickly to the needs of local courts. We are taking steps to do this. However, in order to avoid a possible crisis in the judiciary's future ability to dispense fair and economical justice, we need to broaden our thinking and reach out for more creative resolutions to the challenges that face us. This is the role of the Commission on the Courts, a group appointed in June 1988 to analyze four specific topic areas and devise plans for improving the quality of justice in those areas as we move toward the year 2000. I am very excited about the creative influence of this group and look forward to reporting on their progress next year. (Additional information on the commission can be found on pages 41 and 42 of this report.)

". . . we need to broaden our thinking and reach out for more creative resolutions to the challenges that face us."

I am also pleased about progress on my third goal, increased understanding of the courts. During the year, two public information videotapes were prepared ("The Court's People: Administering Arizona's Justice" and "Pro Per: Representing Yourself in Arizona's Justice Courts") and are available in each county. A third videotape was prepared to explain the Foster Care Review Board Program, overseen by the Supreme Court, to those who might volunteer their time to help dependent children in foster care. Members of the judicial branch also worked cooperatively with the State Bar of Arizona's Center for Law-Related Education in an effort to devise more effective strategies for law-related education in Arizona's schools.

And finally, I found myself in a unique position this year to make the public more aware of judicial procedures. As Chief Justice, I was required to preside over the senate impeachment trial of former Governor Evan Mecham. This was an emotionally charged event and a very convulsive experience for Arizona. It did, however, provide thousands of Arizonans with a firsthand look, via daily media coverage, at the judicial process, and it increased the public's awareness of the importance of the role that the judicial branch of government plays.

It has indeed been a challenging year. But meeting challenges makes us grow and improve. I look forward to next year, as we continually strive to improve Arizona's courts and make the Arizona judiciary a system we can all be proud of.

Administrative Director's Report

The use of the Arizona Courts Building sketch on the cover of this report has both literal and symbolic significance.

From the literal perspective, after nine years FY 88 provided a major breakthrough toward our goal of occupying an Arizona Courts Building. In March 1988, Acting Governor Rose Mofford signed a bill authorizing lease-purchase arrangements for funding construction of state buildings. As a result, we have been able to let bids for construction and expect to break ground on our building in early 1989.

From a symbolic perspective, the cover's sketch reflects the judiciary's efforts to build a better future for Arizona's courts and, thereby, for the individuals who are involved in the nearly two million cases filed with Arizona's courts each year.

In his letter, Chief Justice Gordon focused on his goals for building a better judiciary and use of the Commission on the Courts to help illuminate a path for achieving those goals. I believe that another worthwhile activity when planning for the future is to review a bit of the foundation we have built in the past. The 1982 Annual Judicial Report included a five-year historical perspective. I believe it is appropriate to repeat that process now and use the information as a foundation for building toward the future. What follows is a listing of the major events impacting the judiciary in each of the past five years. It gives a picture of the ebb and flow of our growth and achievements.

1983 - New Beginnings

January - December 1983

Council on Judicial Education and Training

Standards for Municipal Courts

Decriminalization of Minor Traffic Violations

Maximum Caseload for Adult Probation Officers

— In recognition of its commitment to initial and continuing education programs for judges and court personnel, the Supreme Court, on November 15, 1983, established the Council on Judicial Education and Training. The purpose of the council is to assist the Supreme Court in development and implementation of education policies and standards for judges and all court personnel.

— In response to the Municipal Court Judges Association's request for guidance in the operation of municipal courts, the Supreme Court entered Administrative Order No. 83-11 setting forth standards for municipal court judges and court operations. These standards provided a significant precedent in regard to the Supreme Court's leadership in its administrative supervision over all the courts of the state.

— The legislature decriminalized many minor traffic violations and made them civil traffic violations. The Supreme Court was responsible for developing the rules, forms, and procedures necessary to implement civil traffic laws effective January 1, 1984.

— The legislature mandated a maximum adult probation officer caseload of one officer per 60 in-county, supervised probationers.

1984 - New Programs

Many activities of the Administrative Office of the Courts during 1984 were in direct response to activities of the legislature in its first special session, which adjourned on January 19, 1984, and its regular session during 1984.

— During its special session, the legislature provided funding in the form of the State Aid Enhancement Fund to be administered by the Supreme Court and available to local probation departments to assist them in hiring an adequate number of probation officers to meet the statutorily mandated caseload standard of one officer per 60 probationers.

— The special session also resulted in several changes being made in the handling of juvenile complaints and referrals. One of these provided for earlier intervention and increasing consequences for repeat juvenile offenders. In order to assist counties in funding programs that provide increased consequences, the Juvenile Delinquency Reduction Fund was created and placed under the administration of the Supreme Court.

— In an effort to deal with the state's overcrowded prisons, the legislature authorized the Adult Intensive Probation Supervision Program to be administered by the Supreme Court. The objective of the program is to place certain individuals on intensively supervised probation rather than sending them to the state prison. The implementation date for the program was July 1, 1985.

— The legislature approved a second panel of judges for Division Two of the Court of Appeals. In November, Governor Bruce Babbitt appointed the judges to that panel.

— The legislature added an offense for "harassment". The Supreme Court designed and distributed the necessary forms, which must be available to the public at all applicable courts.

— The legislature provided the Supreme Court with funding to establish a Judicial Management Unit to conduct site visits to limited jurisdiction courts and prepare detailed reports with recommendations for improving their management operations.

— On December 3, the Superior Court in Maricopa County became the first superior court to establish an official "branch" court, the Southeast Judicial District.

1985 - Focus on Automation

— In Maricopa County an automated case management program for justice of the peace courts was pilot tested. This program forms the basis for the LOwer Court Information System (LOCIS) developed in 1986 by Administrative Office staff and made available to limited jurisdiction courts throughout the state.

— The Court of Appeals, Division Two, received money for automation of its court activities.

— Planning for the new court building was reactivated with the legislature appropriating money to complete design and construction documents for the new building.

1986-87 - Growth, Change, and Challenge

The 1987 Judicial Report was our first fiscal year annual report. For that reason, activities of both calendar year 1986 and the first six months of 1987 are presented in this section.

— There were two changes on the Supreme Court bench. Justice William A. Holohan completed his five-year term as chief justice, and on January 5, 1987, Justice Frank X. Gordon, Jr. began his term in that capacity. In addition, on March 3, 1987, James Moeller was appointed to the vacant position created by the retirement of Justice Jack D. H. Hays.

— The Supreme Court portion of the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund allocated to assist courts in processing criminal and delinquency cases was expanded to allow use by all courts.

January 1986 - June 1987

- New Chief Justice and Associate Justice
- Use of Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund Expanded
- Juvenile Intensive Probation Supervision Program
- Probation Services Fees for Juveniles
- Court Automation Projects Prospered
- Council on Judicial Administration Established
- New Garnishment Laws
- Criminal Benchbook for Limited Jurisdiction Courts
- Statewide Guidelines for Child Support Amounts
- Training for Clerks from all Courts
- Wage Assignment for Collection of Support

— The legislature approved a juvenile intensive probation program similar in design to the adult program. The program was implemented in January 1987.

— The legislature enacted probation services fees for juveniles similar to those imposed on adult probationers in 1981.

— There was tremendous growth in the area of automation. The Supreme Court's automated docket system was enhanced; the automated system for Division Two was implemented; and the LOwer Court Information System (LOCIS) program was installed in participating justice and municipal courts. In January of 1987, the first training session was held on the Arizona Probation Management Information System, which was implemented statewide.

— On May 20, 1987, the Supreme Court entered an order creating the Council on Judicial Administration composed of the chief judges of each appellate court; presiding judges of each superior court; representative judges of juvenile courts, justice of the peace courts, and municipal courts; and the Administrative Director of the Courts. The purpose of the council is to advise the Supreme Court on the development and implementation of policies and procedures related to court administration and the integration of the judicial system.

— The legislature adopted new garnishment laws, and the Supreme Court was responsible for designing and distributing the necessary forms related to these new procedures.

— A criminal benchbook for limited jurisdiction court judges was published and distributed by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The benchbook, which provides scripts and detailed procedures, was prepared by a committee of judges, attorneys, and court administrators.

— The Supreme Court entered an administrative order establishing statewide guidelines for child support amounts effective October 1, 1987.

— For the first time, a two-day seminar was held for clerks of court from all court levels.

— The legislature passed the nation's most progressive automatic wage assignment law for the collection of child support, and the Supreme Court was responsible for preparing the necessary forms.

FY 88 - More Growth, More Change, More Challenge

It is becoming clear that the only thing constant in our organization is change. Perhaps that is why, after eleven years with the Supreme Court, I still have a feeling of excitement about what we can achieve. Certainly, there has been no time for complacency or resting on one's laurels.

The changes this year included passage of legislation creating a tax court for Arizona effective September 30, 1988. The court is a special department of the Superior Court in Maricopa County and will hear all Arizona cases involving the imposition, assessment, or collection of a tax.

Also, during the 1988 legislative session, we were successful in obtaining a fifth panel of judges for the Court of Appeals, Division One, but unsuccessful in our bid for state funding of the superior court.

Trial courts have had to make necessary adjustments to handle the increased caseload resulting from Arizona's "war on drugs." The Administrative Office has tried to assist the courts and is preparing a distribution plan for monies awarded to courts by the state's Criminal Justice Commission in an effort to at least partially cover the costs associated with the drug war.

Since 1979, when the first specific appropriation to fund education programs for limited jurisdiction courts was made, we have dramatically increased our educational programs. This year every judge and all court personnel were required to attend at least 16 hours of continuing education. Providing opportunities for individuals to attain these training hours has been a true challenge. My staff has developed numerous seminars and programs including the "Gearing up for Success" program, which offered over 48 sessions and was attended by 853 court support personnel. They have also offered a faculty skill development program to help prepare individuals to present educational sessions for both state and local programs.

In the probation area, the Administrative Office has been involved in a rather creative program. Recognizing the strong link between illiteracy and unlawful behavior, we assisted in establishing reading labs using the Principles of Alphabet Literacy System (PALS). We are also working to improve juvenile detention facilities in rural counties. This year a committee was formed to document the woefully inadequate, and in some cases dangerous, conditions in many of the state's juvenile detention facilities. The committee is expected to file its report with the Supreme Court in January 1989; that report will include recommended solutions to the problems identified.

Again this year the legislature approved and gave the Supreme Court responsibility for administering a program that will decrease the number of felony offenders who are incarcerated. This program, "Community Punishment" will be implemented in FY 89. It is directed at limiting county jail populations while providing the offenders with a high degree of supervision and structured activities.

All of the areas I have mentioned thus far are familiar topics for the Administrative Office: education, juvenile programs and facilities, probation, etc. The new topic over the past 18 months has been child support. The Supreme Court first became involved when it implemented statewide child support amount guidelines through an administrative order effective October 1, 1987. Then, in response to progressive legislation for child support enforcement, we found ourselves developing forms and procedures for automatic wage assignments and providing related training. Now we are working to coordinate efforts of the Department of Economic Security to establish a statewide automation system for Title IV-D child support cases with the needs of the judiciary for an effective child support system for all cases. We have moved from no child support involvement to active involvement. In fact, in late June of this year I found myself on a panel addressing a nationwide conference and discussing the child support issues we are facing in Arizona. Child support is certainly not an area we had planned on being involved with; however, I am convinced that our involvement will make a difference in the effectiveness of the child support program in Arizona, and that makes all of the effort worthwhile.

The foundation we have built over the past several years seems to demonstrate our ability to take on additional projects, both on familiar ground and in areas that are new for us. We are looking to the work of the Commission on the Courts to assist us in identifying the best course for meeting our future challenges. Justice Gordon spoke of the commission in his letter, and it is described in some detail on pages 41 and 42 of this report. It has been exciting to get this activity organized, and I eagerly await its recommendations, even though they will, of course, mean more change.

The Judicial Branch of Government

The judicial power shall be vested in an integrated judicial department consisting of a supreme court, such intermediate appellate courts as may be provided by law, a superior court, such courts inferior to the superior court as may be provided by law, and justice courts. Arizona Constitution, Article VI, Sec. 1.

The Supreme Court

The Arizona Supreme Court, which consists of five justices, has administrative authority over all courts in the state. The Chief Justice, who is elected by the other justices for a five-year term, is responsible for exercising the Court's supervisory power. To assist it in carrying out its various responsibilities, the Court appoints the Administrative Director of the Courts, the Clerk of the Supreme Court, law clerks, secretarial and clerical staff, and a central staff of attorneys.

The Supreme Court's constitutional jurisdiction includes appellate review, the issuance of extraordinary writs such as habeas corpus, and the power to make rules governing procedural matters in all the courts. Criminal cases involving the death penalty are appealed directly to the Supreme Court. Decisions of the Court of Appeals may be reviewed at the discretion of the Supreme Court. Through its rule-making authority, the Supreme Court regulates the activities of the State Bar of Arizona and oversees the admission of new attorneys to the practice of law. The Supreme Court also serves as the final decision-making body when disciplinary recommendations against Arizona judges are filed by the Commission on Judicial Qualifications.

The Court of Appeals

The Court of Appeals has two divisions. Division One, with twelve judges, is located in Phoenix; Division Two, with six judges, sits in Tucson. The court has appellate jurisdiction to determine all matters properly appealed from the Superior Court except for criminal cases where the sentence of death or life imprisonment has actually been imposed.

The geographical jurisdiction of Division One covers appeals from the Superior Court in the counties of Apache, Coconino, La Paz, Maricopa, Mohave, Navajo, Yavapai, and Yuma. Division Two receives its cases from the Superior Court in the counties of Cochise, Gila, Graham, Greenlee, Pima, Pinal, and Santa Cruz. In addition, Division One has statewide responsibility for reviewing decisions of the Industrial Commission and hearing Unemployment Compensation appeals from the Department of Economic Security.

Superior Court

On June 30, 1988, the Superior Court consisted of 101 judges sitting in 15 counties. The Superior Court is a trial court of general jurisdiction and is empowered to hear cases of equity and law involving real property; civil claims of $2,500 or more; felony prosecutions and misdemeanors not otherwise provided for by law; probate matters; and cases involving dissolution or annulment of marriage. The Superior Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice of the Peace Courts over civil claims between $500 and $2,500. It also has exclusive jurisdiction in juvenile matters.

In counties with three or more Superior Court judges, the presiding judge may appoint court commissioners to perform the duties provided by law or Supreme Court rule. (Effective May 3, 1988, a commissioner may be appointed in any county regardless of size to hear and determine Title IV-D child support matters.) Commissioners usually determine matters where a default has been entered against a party and may preside at the initial appearance of a defendant charged with a crime. Adult and juvenile probation departments also operate under the supervision of the Superior Court.

Each county has a Clerk of the Superior Court who is elected at the general election. The responsibilities of the Clerk's Office are diverse and include maintenance of official court case files; certification of documents; collection of fees; and issuance of summonses, subpoenas, and marriage licenses. The Clerk serves as jury commissioner in all counties except Maricopa, Pima, and Yavapai; a separate jury commissioner is appointed in these three counties.

Justice of the Peace and Municipal Courts

Statewide there are 84 Justices of the Peace sitting in the same number of precincts. These judges are elected at the general election by voters in their respective precincts, and the regular term of office is four years. Municipal Courts are mandated by state law in each incorporated city or town. At the time of the 1988 personnel survey, there were 112 full-time and 58 part-time municipal judges throughout the state. Municipal judges are usually appointed by city or town councils. Both courts have jurisdiction to hear class 1, 2, and 3 misdemeanor cases and conduct preliminary examinations on felony complaints. Municipal Courts are empowered to hear matters arising out of violations of city or town ordinances. Virtually all traffic violation cases are filed in the Justice of the Peace or Municipal Courts. Justice of the Peace Courts also have civil jurisdiction over lawsuits involving less than $2,500.

Statewide Caseload, Financial, and Personnel Information

General Introduction

For the second year, the Supreme Court is reporting comprehensive data on caseloads, financing, and personnel for all courts within the Arizona judiciary on a fiscal year basis. Reports prior to 1987 presented caseload information on a calendar year basis. Summary information for all courts is included in this report. Information for the individual courts within the Arizona court system is published in the Arizona Courts: FY 88 Data Report. The following general statements are included to provide a better understanding of the summary data presented here. Attention should also be given to the narrative statements and footnotes applicable to the specific information presented.

CASELOAD STATISTICS

The summary caseload statistics presented here have been compiled from the monthly statistical reports submitted to the Supreme Court by the individual appellate, superior, justice of the peace, and municipal courts of the state. Incomplete or inconsistent information, where detected, is footnoted. While the statistics are checked for mathematical accuracy, they are unaudited. Justice of the peace and municipal court criminal statistics reflect "complaint filings," while superior court figures reflect the number of "defendants" charged.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The financial information published in this report is based on a survey of the courts conducted during August 1988. It is unaudited and, therefore, dependent on the reporting accuracy of the courts and counties participating in the survey. An effort was made to identify all costs of court operations where the cost is directly attributable to the individual court's budget. The following definitions for the categories used in this report are included to provide a better understanding of the financial information presented.

Expenditures — includes those funds appropriated directly to the court by the immediate funding authority, state funds appropriated for local courts, and funds provided through grants. Expenditures attributable to the court, but included in budgets of other departments or agencies rather than the court's own budget, are not included in these figures.

Personal Services - amounts for salaries and wages for all personnel.
Fringe Benefits - amounts for employer's cost of FICA, insurance, retirement contributions, etc.
Operating Expenses - amounts for utilities, telephones, postage, insurance, rent, building maintenance, office supplies, and office equipment maintenance.
Travel - amounts for personnel mileage, per diem, and travel.
Professional Contract Services - amounts for court reporter costs, juries, attorney fees for indigent defendants, mental institution charges, and additional contractual obligations.
Capital Expenses - amounts for purchases valued at over $100.
Additional State Funds - state funds for specific programs, committees, or services that are appropriated to the Supreme Court. Where these funds are passed through to other courts for program operation, the expenditure is shown at that court level.
Federal Funds - amounts received through such sources as federal revenue sharing, Title IV-D child support, and other federal programs.
Other Non-State, Non-Federal Funds - amounts from non-governmental funding sources such as non-profit organization grants.

PERSONNEL INFORMATION

The personnel information contained in this report is based on a survey of the staffing levels of the Arizona judiciary as of June 30, 1988. Because of the vast number of job titles encountered both within and between the different levels of courts, broad general position groupings were developed to publish the information in a concise format.

Statewide Case Filing Information

During FY 88, statewide filings for all of Arizona's courts totaled 1,919,114, as compared with 1,811,479 the previous year, an increase of 5.9%.

Filings in municipal courts constituted the largest percentage (60.1%) of the state's total filings. Justice of the peace court filings were second with 32.2% of total filings. Thus, courts of limited jurisdiction received 92.3% of all case filings. This is virtually the same percentage as shown for FY 87, although the distribution of the caseload increased by about 4% for municipal courts and decreased by about 4% for justice courts. The proportion of cases filed with the superior court and the two levels of appellate courts has remained constant.

As shown in the accompanying pie chart, traffic cases represent the majority of all case filings, 72.2%. Criminal cases are the next highest category, accounting for 15.6% of all filings, and civil cases represent 9.2% of the total filings. The category of "other" filings, which represents 3.0% of the total statewide filings, includes domestic relations, probate, and juvenile cases at the superior court level and special actions, industrial commission cases, habeas corpus, and State Bar matters at the appellate court level.

Statewide Judicial Expenditures

The financial information shown below reflects the total FY 88 expenditures for all courts by level of court and funding source. The pie charts illustrate the percentage of expenditures by funding source and by court level.

The Arizona judiciary is funded almost exclusively by state and local governments. This year the state's funding contribution was 25.0%, an increase of 2.8% over the previous year. Over the past five years, the percentage of funds provided by municipalities and federal sources have changed very little; however, the percentages contributed by state and county sources have changed rather dramatically. During FY 84 the state contributed 10.8%, as compared with this year's 25.0%, and the counties contributed 73.3%, as compared with this year's 59.5%.

Over two-thirds (70.8%) of the total FY 88 judicial expenditures were allocated for services at the superior court level. The expenditures by court levels did not vary by more than 1% for any court level when compared with the FY 87 figures. In fact, the percentage of expenditures by court level has varied only slightly over the past five years. Statewide Expenditure Information

The statewide expenditure information below is provided for each of the court levels comprising the Arizona judiciary. The table shows specific line-item expenditures for FY 88. This data was compiled from responses to the Administrative Office of the Courts' financial survey conducted in August 1988.

Expenditures at the trial court level include funds received from non-appropriated sources. For example, monies received from adult and juvenile probation services fees are available for use by the adult and juvenile probation departments, and 9% of the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund (allocated to the Supreme Court for the Case Processing Assistance Fund) is available to courts for processing criminal and delinquency cases. Amounts from these non-appropriated sources are shown at the court level where they are expended.

The Supreme Court also administers monies for numerous special programs such as intensive probation and court appointed special advocates. Amounts for these special programs are shown at the superior court level, where they are expended.

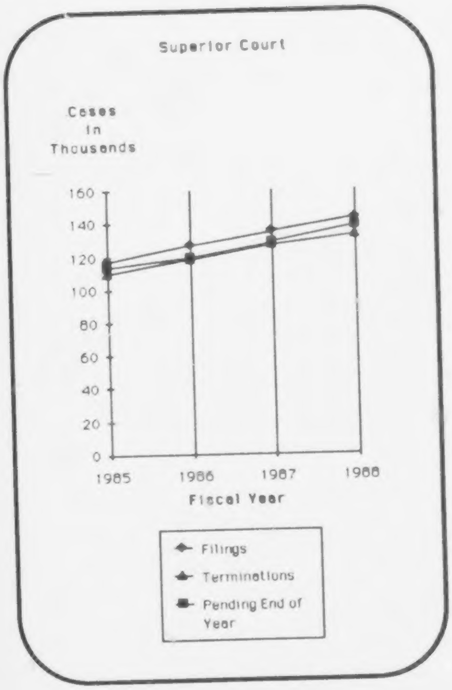
Superior Court

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

The caseload statistics contained here are based on unaudited case activity data reported monthly by the superior court in each county to the Arizona Supreme Court. Criminal statistics represent the number of defendants; all other statistics represent cases.

For six consecutive years, case activity in the superior court has reached a triple high - increased filings, increased terminations, and an increased ending-pending caseload.



Filing Activity

During FY 88, total case filings for the superior court increased from the 134,434 in FY 87 to 141,875, a 5.6% increase. The FY 88 figure represents a 42.5% increase over the 99,533 cases filed in calendar year 1984.

The largest volume increase in superior court filings occurred in the category of civil cases, which jumped from 53,063 in FY 87 to 60,371 in FY 88, an increase of 13.8%. Domestic relations cases, however, showed a decrease of 5.3% from 35,016 filings in FY 87 to 33,176 filings this year.

Total criminal case filings were up by 4.7% from 24,038 in FY 87 to 25,176 in FY 88. Felony filings have shown a 3.5% increase, from 21,373 in FY 87 to 22,123 in FY 88.

Other areas of increase include probate and domestic violence. Probate case filings have increased from 9,937 in FY 87 to 10,300 in FY 88, a 3.6% rise; domestic violence filings (petitions for order of protection) in superior court have increased by 9.9% from 644 in FY 87 to 708 in FY 88.

Termination Activity

Superior court case terminations increased 3.9% during FY 88, rising from 126,580 in FY 87 to 131,507 in FY 88. In comparing calendar year 1984 total case terminations (95,328) with those of FY 88, there has been a 32.9% increase in case terminations.

Coinciding with the increase in filings, the most voluminous increase in terminations was in the area of civil cases. Civil case terminations increased from 50,443 in FY 87 to 54,132 in FY 88, an increase of 7.3%. Total criminal case terminations reported an increase of 8.7% from 22,082 in FY 87 to 24,006 in FY 88.

Adult Probation

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

During FY 88, 10,223 adults were placed on probation, an increase of 3.7% over the 9,860 adults placed on probation in FY 87. In addition 21,676 adults were on probation at the beginning of the year, so a total of 31,899 adults were supervised by probation departments throughout the state during FY 88, an increase of 9.3% over the FY 87 figure. To gain some perspective on these figures, during calendar year 1984, 6,289 adults were placed on probation — the FY 88 figure represents a 56.8% increase over this figure. The total number of adults on probation at the end of FY 88 (23,821) represents a 42.75% increase over the 16,687 adults on probation at the end of calendar year 1984.

> ". . . 10,223 adults were placed on probation . . ."

The number of probation terminations increased 7.9% over FY 87 figure. While there was a 5.0% increase in the number of individuals receiving an early termination, there was a 3.1% decrease in the number of adults with a full-term discharge from probation. The most dramatic change was a 27.2% increase in the number of adults who were revoked from probation and sent to county jail or prison, 1,787 in FY 87 and 2,274 in FY 88. The number of "Other Terminations" also increased from 325 in FY 87 to 407 this year. Despite the increase in the number of adults whose probation was terminated, the total number of adults on probation increased 9.9%, from 21,676 on July 1, 1987 to 23,821 on June 30, 1988.

MONIES COLLECTED

Over the last several years there has been increased emphasis on requiring probationers to perform public service and on collecting fines, fees, and restitution payments ordered by the courts. This emphasis has paid off, literally.

Total collections are noted in the accompanying chart. All categories except reimbursement have shown increases of over 20%. As a point of reference, during calendar year 1984, total collections amounted to $4,096,944. Thus, the FY 88 figure, $7,061,340, represents a 72.3% increase over the 1984 figure.

State Aid for Probation Services

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 12-261, et seq., the State Aid for Probation services program provides funding to the superior court in each county for maintaining, expanding, or improving juvenile probation services, and achieving or maintaining the average adult probation case supervision ratio requirement of 60 in-county probationers to one probation officer as required by A.R.S. § 12-251. Supreme Court Administrative Order No. 86-7 provides that at least 80% of the funds allocated to each superior court be used to fund the salaries and employee-related expenses of probation officers supervising adults or juveniles on probation to the superior court. All fifteen counties participate in this program. By statute, the superior court in each county receives a $20,000 base, with the remainder of the funds allocated based on the Supreme Court's determination of need and probable effectiveness of each plan as submitted by individual adult and juvenile probation departments.

In FY 88, the Supreme Court allocated a total of $475,931 to fund the salaries, employee benefits, and a portion of the associated operating expenses for 13 adult probation officers in Graham, Greenlee, Maricopa, Pima, and Pinal counties. A total of $841,813 of the FY 88 State Aid for Probation Services appropriation was allocated to juvenile probation departments.

State Aid Enhancement

Similar in purpose to the State Aid for Probation Services program, the State Aid Enhancement program was authorized by the legislature during the 1983 Special Session when the commitment was made for the state to subsidize adult probation services in order to maintain the statutory ratio of adult probationers to probation officers (60:1). In FY 88, the Supreme Court allocated over $4 million to fund salaries, employee benefits, and a portion of the associated operating expenses for 136 adult probation officer positions statewide.

Adult probationers included in the 60:1 statutory standard are felony offenders who could be sentenced to the Department of Corrections (DOC) if probation supervision were not available. The State Aid Enhancement average cost of supervising an offender on probation ($525 per offender per year) is dramatically less than the $19,000 annual cost for housing an inmate in a DOC facility.

At the close of FY 88, State Aid Enhancement program funds provided the salaries, employee benefits, and a portion of the operating expenses for 50.5% of the 269 authorized adult probation officer positions providing supervision services to approximately 24,000 adult offenders on probation to the superior court in Arizona.

Adult Probation Services Fees

In 1981, the Arizona legislature passed legislation authorizing each county treasurer to establish a Probation Services Fund. Pursuant to A.R.S. § 13-901.A:

> When granting probation to an adult the superior court shall, as a condition of probation, assess a monthly fee of not less than thirty dollars unless, after determining the inability of the probationer to pay the fee, the court assesses a lesser fee. The fee shall be paid to the clerk of the superior court. The clerk of the court shall pay all monies collected from this fee to the county treasurer for deposit in the probation services fund.

Supreme Court Administrative Order No. 86-8 prescribes the procedures for the use of probation services fees ordered by a sentencing judge and paid into the fund by adults on supervised probation. Monies may be expended only upon the direction of the presiding judge of the superior court and are to be used primarily to pay the salaries and employee-related expenses of adult probation officers who provide presentence investigations and supervision services to the superior court. During a fiscal year, up to 30% of the probation services fund may be expended "...to otherwise improve, maintain, or expand adult probation services provided within the county...", i.e. for programming, services, and operating expenses other than officer salaries and fringe benefits.

Adult Intensive Probation Supervision

Adult Intensive Probation Supervision (AIPS) is a special probation program created during the 1983 Special Legislative Session to divert serious, non-violent offenders from overcrowded prisons. The program, which was implemented on July 1, 1985, is a punishment-oriented sentencing alternative for select offenders who otherwise would be incarcerated in the Department of Corrections (DOC); thus, prison space is reserved for more serious offenders. The AIPS program emphasizes public protection and the collection of victim restitution.

A.R.S. § 12-291, et seq., provides that probation teams consisting of a probation officer and a surveillance officer supervise no more than 25 offenders at any time. In some cases one intensive probation officer may supervise a maximum of 15 offenders. Team members must have face-to-face contact with offenders at least four times each week; maintain control of each offender's paycheck in order to enforce payment of restitution, fees, and other court-ordered assessments; and administer frequent and random tests for drug use and abuse. Officer contacts with intensive probationers may take place at any time and typically occur during evening hours, on weekends, and on holidays. Offenders are required to serve a minimum of 45 days in jail as a condition of intensive supervision probation; must be employed, engaged in supervised job searches, or enrolled as a full-time student; and must perform at least 40 hours of volunteer community service work each month.

During FY 88, $4,867,800 was appropriated by the legislature to the AIPS program. This amount allowed AIPS to divert from prison and supervise in the community 1,140 prison-bound offenders at an annual cost of approximately $4,270 per offender. This results in a substantial cost savings to the state when compared with the annual cost of housing an inmate at DOC ($13,000 - $19,000 per inmate per year) plus construction costs of $30,000 to $50,000 per cell.

There were 1,854 offenders supervised statewide on Adult Intensive Probation Supervision during FY 88; a total of 483, or approximately 26%, were revoked from probation and sent to prison during the twelve-month period. Superior courts in Arizona sentenced 1,080 probation-eligible, prison-bound offenders to AIPS during the year. Intensive probation officers collected $341,378 in restitution, fines, and fees from offenders on AIPS whose income totaled $3,969,659. AIPS probationers paid over $469,033 in income taxes and performed 207,408 hours of volunteer community service work.

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

Referrals

During FY 88, the juvenile probation department handled a total of 54,114 referrals, an increase of 2.9% over the previous year. Of these, 46,581 represent new referrals filed during the year, an increase of 5.4% from the 44,203 filed during FY 87. The remaining referrals were pending at the beginning of FY 88. To provide some perspective, during calendar year 1984, there were 32,789 new referrals filed. Thus, the FY 88 figure represents a 42.1% increase over the 1984 figure.

> ". . . the juvenile probation department handled a total of 54,114 referrals . . ."

The number of referrals that resulted in a petition being filed increased 4.5% from 13,514 in FY 87 to 14,105 in FY 88, and referrals ending in adjustment grew by 0.2% from 27,412 to 27,453 over the same time period.

Children with Petitions Filed

The number of children with petitions filed during FY 88 increased 9.4% from 9,389 in FY 87 to 10,267 in FY 88. In addition, there were 2,722 children with petitions pending on July 1,1987. Thus, Arizona had a total of 12,989 children with petitions during the year; of these, 7,128 were adjudicated delinquent or incorrigible, a 3.3% increase over the 6,899 children adjudicated delinquent or incorrigible in FY 87. The total number of juveniles adjudicated delinquent or incorrigible for FY 88 represents a 5.7% increase over the number for calendar year 1984 (6,741).

Probation Activity

A total of 3,732 children were placed on probation during the year, a 4.4% decrease from the 3,903 children in FY 87. In fact, this represents a 4.8% decrease from the 3,991 children placed on probation during calendar year 1984. Revocations from probation decreased from 680 during FY 87 to 676 in FY 88, a 0.6% decrease. At the end of FY 88, a total of 4,500 children were on probation, a decrease of 2.1% from the 4,597 children on probation on July 1, 1987.

Juvenile Probation Services Fees Fund

Probation services fees are collected by the juvenile divisions of the superior court pursuant to A.R.S. §§ 8-241, 8-230.01, and 12-268. Monies in the fund are to be used in accordance with guidelines established by the Supreme Court primarily to pay for training, salaries, and employee-related benefits of juvenile court personnel. In addition, during any fiscal year not more than 30% of the fund may be expended to otherwise improve, maintain, or expand juvenile probation services.

State law provides that the juvenile courts shall assess a juvenile's parents a monthly fee of not less than $30 while the juvenile is under the supervision of the juvenile probation department. State law also provides that the parent of a juvenile whose delinquency complaint or citation alleging an alcohol offense is adjusted after the child's completion of consequences assigned by a probation officer shall be assessed a one-time $30 fee. In both cases, if the court determines the inability of the parent to pay the fee, a lesser amount may be assessed.

The fees are paid to the clerk of the superior court and deposited into a special revenue fund established with the county treasurer. Expenditures from the fund are made at the direction of the presiding juvenile court judge. The Juvenile Probation Services Fees collected during FY '88 and on deposit as of June 30, 1988 are shown in the chart.

Juvenile Crime Reduction Fund

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 41-2401.B(4), the Arizona Supreme Court receives 12% of the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund for the purpose of reducing juvenile crime. The Supreme Court's administrative requirements for the fund provide that any government agency, entity, or department that receives direct operating appropriations from state, county, or city government is, unless otherwise prohibited by law, eligible to apply to the Supreme Court for Juvenile Crime Reduction Funds. Not more than 50% of the fund may be awarded to applicants within any one county during a single fiscal year.

Among other factors, the Supreme Court considers the following in making its determination regarding funding:

- the demonstrated need to reduce juvenile crime in the area covered by the application, and the absence of other governmental and community resources to accomplish that objective;
- the estimated number of juveniles affected by the plan; and
- the basis for the applicant's assessment that the plan will be reasonably successful.

Plans funded for FY '88 fell into four general categories:

- programs demonstrating effective coordination among existing community agencies in an effort to reduce juvenile crime;
- programs providing consequences, close supervision, and an emphasis on the collection of restitution for juveniles adjudicated delinquent;
- programs providing education/awareness for juveniles regarding crime prevention, safety, drug/alcohol abuse prevention, and self-protection; and
- programs providing funds to law enforcement agencies for implementing effective prevention programs.

Family Counseling

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 8-261 through 8-265, family counseling funds provide financial assistance for the juvenile divisions of the superior court. Family counseling services are utilized by the various juvenile courts to strengthen family relationships and to help prevent juvenile delinquency.

State funds appropriated to the Supreme Court are distributed annually to juvenile courts. Each court is entitled to a base amount of $5,000 and the remainder is allocated according to the juvenile population of each county. The counties provide matching funds at a four-to-one ratio. The FY 88 appropriation was $289,600.

The types of problems that prompt referral to a juvenile court's family counseling program are many and varied. They include emotional and behavioral problems stemming from alcoholism, unemployment, divorce, step-parenting problems, and parent-child communications. Funds can be used to provide counseling not only to children who have come to the attention of the court, but also to their parents and siblings in an effort to address family problems that may be contributing to unlawful behavior and to prevent escalation into more serious delinquent activity.

Based on reports received by the Administrative Director's Office from the juvenile probation departments, 2,295 children and their families received counseling services through the program during FY 88.

The Juvenile Probation Services Fund was created by the legislature in 1986 by combining the Juvenile Delinquency Reduction Fund and the Juvenile Probation Office Foster Care (JPO/FC) line item from the Department of Economic Security's budget. Prior to FY 87, the Administrative Office of the Courts functioned as a liaison between the juvenile courts and the Department of Economic Security in the allocation of JPO/FC funds used to provide treatment services for juveniles adjudicated delinquent; the annual appropriation for the Juvenile Delinquency Reduction Fund was used by the juvenile courts to provide consequences to juveniles who acknowledged responsibility for a delinquent act or alcohol offense. The merging of these two funds into the Juvenile Probation Services Fund has allowed the juvenile courts to maximize impact of the funds and to contract for the wide variety of services necessary to address the needs of all juveniles under the supervision of the courts, from first-time offenders to juveniles adjudicated delinquent or incorrigible.

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 8-230.02, Juvenile Probation Services Funds are now used for satisfying: (1) the requirements of A.R.S. § 8-230.01, whereby a probation officer must provide a consequence to a juvenile who acknowledges responsibility for a delinquent act or alcohol offense, and (2) the need to provide services to children referred for delinquent or incorrigible offenses and placed in foster care, day treatment programs, residential treatment centers, counseling, drug treatment/testing, and other programs as required by A.R.S. § 8-243. This is the primary treatment fund for the entire juvenile court system. The accompanying chart indicates the FY 88 allocations of funds to each county.

The majority of the fund is used to place children in residential treatment centers. For the delinquent child, residential placement is an alternative to commitment to the Department of Corrections. For the emotionally disturbed incorrigible child, this fund represents the only significant source of funding for residential treatment and assistance to the child and the child's family. Residential placements increased steadily over FY 88, from 227 placements in July of 1987 to 276 placements in June of 1988, a 22% increase. An average of 71 children per month were placed in foster homes during the same period.

To satisfy the requirements of A.R.S. § 8-230.01, the juvenile courts operate directly or contract with outside agencies to provide consequences to juveniles who acknowledge responsibility for a delinquent act or alcohol offense, prior to adjustment of the delinquency complaint or the complaint/citation alleging an alcohol offense. Consequences imposed on these juveniles include participation in unpaid community service work, counseling programs, a drug/alcohol or "first offender" education program, a day treatment program, and/or payment of restitution or a monetary assessment.

Juvenile Intensive Probation Supervision

As a result of increased concern about juvenile crime, overcrowding in juvenile correctional institutions, and the high costs of incarceration, the legislature created the Juvenile Intensive Probation Supervision (JIPS) program in 1986. The Administrative Office of the Courts has overall responsibility for implementing JIPS and approving program and budget plans for operation of juvenile intensive probation at the county level. Juveniles were first placed on intensive probation in February 1987. After 16 months, each county now operates a JIPS program.

The Legislature intended JIPS to be a highly structured, closely supervised program with emphasis on surveillance, education, work, and home detention. This is achieved by providing a significantly higher level of supervision than is found in traditional probation programs. In most cases, at least four weekly face-to-face contacts are required between the supervising probation (or surveillance) officer and each juvenile. In addition, officers maintain at least weekly contacts with parents, school officials, community service supervisors, and treatment providers. Juveniles are required to do one or more of the following for not less than 32 hours per week: attend school, remain employed, provide community service, or attend court-ordered treatment programs, such as drug and alcohol abuse counseling. Juveniles must remain at home unless participating in an activity specifically approved for them by the probation officer.

The end result is a program that balances control of the juvenile offender through strict supervision with rehabilitative efforts designed to address the particular problems of each youth. In addition to providing close supervision, JIPS officers maintain information regarding the conduct of each case, may request that the county attorney bring a non-compliant probationer before the court, and monitor the payment of restitution and probation fees. Pursuant to Supreme Court administrative requirements, the purpose of JIPS is to reduce commitments to the State Department of Corrections and other institutional or out-of-home placements.

The accompanying table reflects program activity for FY 88. In addition to the number of juveniles with dispositions to juvenile intensive probation (610), in a number of rural counties, JIPS officers supervised a total of 20 "other, high risk" juveniles pursuant to A.R.S. § 8-276.

Pursuant to A.R.S. § 8-278, the Administrative Office of the Courts is contracting with an independent team of evaluators to assess the impact of JIPS programs in each county. The report is due in December 1989.

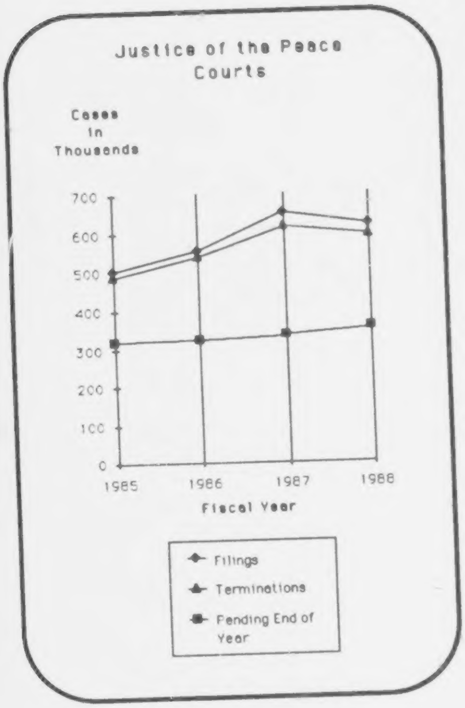
Justice of the Peace Courts

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

The total number of case filings in Arizona's justice of the peace courts during FY 88 decreased 5.2%, from 651,962 cases in FY 87 to 617,973 in FY 88. However, this overall decline results from decreases in just two categories: criminal traffic and the combined category of small claims and civil under $500. Statewide case terminations decreased 4%, from 615,086 in FY 87 to 590,187 in FY 88. The total number of cases pending increased by 5.4% from 334,562 on July 1, 1987 to 352,524 at year-end.



Filings

Traffic cases comprise the majority of the workload in justice courts. During FY 88, the number of traffic filings (including traffic-related failure to appear filings) decreased 8.9% from 471,534 in FY 87 to 429,694 in FY 88. During FY 88, a total of 234,009 criminal traffic cases were filed, a decrease of 16.0% from the 278,749 filings in FY 87. Civil traffic case filings increased 1.5% from 173,606 in FY 87 to 176,202 this year.

In contrast to the decrease in criminal traffic filings, the number of non-traffic misdemeanor case filings rose 3.3% from 44,538 in FY 87 to 46,028 in FY 88. Felony preliminary hearings have shown a slight increase, 2.6%, from 21,755 in FY 87 to 22,329 in FY 88. Domestic violence petitions decreased from 6,450 in FY 87 to 6,156 in FY 88, a decrease of 4.5%.

Total civil case filings increased by 5% from 109,968 in FY 87 to 115,446 in FY 88. Within this group, small claims and civil under $500 filings decreased 4.0%, but civil cases involving $500-2499 increased 2.3%, from 21,546 cases in FY 87 to 22,035 cases this year. Forcible detainer filings for FY 88 were up by 14.5%, increasing from 46,382 in FY 87 to 53,043 in FY 88.

Terminations

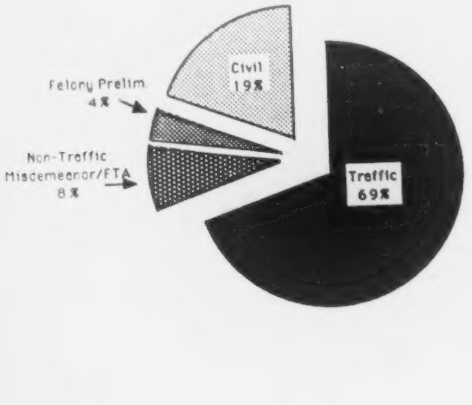
As previously noted, total terminations decreased 4% from the previous year's figure. However, the only actual case categories recording a decrease were criminal traffic, traffic failure to appear, and the combined category of small claims and civil under $500. Criminal traffic case terminations decreased 13% from 262,268 cases in FY 87 to 228,166 in FY 88. Traffic case failure to appear complaint determinations showed a decrease of 14.4% from 19,374 in FY 87 to 16,581 in FY 88. However, civil traffic case terminations showed a slight increase, 2.2%, from 171,676 case closings in FY 87 to 175,510 in FY 88.

Non-traffic case terminations for misdemeanor and misdemeanor failures to appear showed an increase over the figures for the previous year. Misdemeanor case terminations increased 3.6%, from 38,038 in FY 87 to 39,421 in FY 88. Misdemeanor failure to appear case terminations increased significantly, 47.9%, from 1,888 in FY 87 to 2,792 in FY 88.

Civil case terminations increased by 5.4% from 101,596 in FY 87 to 107,104 in FY 88. Within the civil category, there was a 6.3% decrease in terminations of small claims and civil under $500, but there was a 16.7% increase in forcible detainer case terminations, from 44,631 in FY 87 to 52,086 this year.

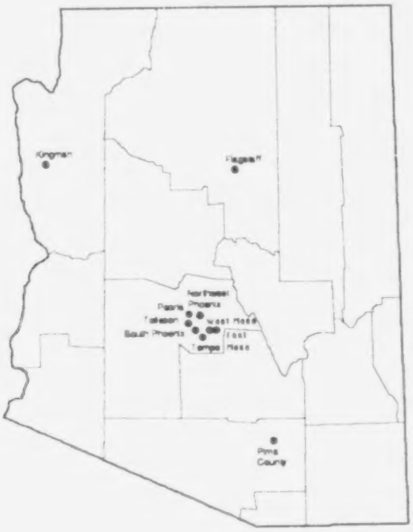
Felony preliminary hearing case terminations showed a slight increase of 1.8% from 20,246 in FY 87 to 20,613 in FY 88.

Case Filings Distribution



Driving Under the Influence

Case filings for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs (DUI) during FY 87 totaled 17,396 as compared with 14,413 in FY 88, a filing decrease of 17%. To provide some perspective, in FY 85 there were 15,639 DUI case filings; this year's figure represents a 7.8% decrease from that figure. DUI case terminations decreased by 11.9% from 16,016 in FY 87 to 14,110 in FY 88.



This map identifies the ten justice courts with the highest number of total filings during FY 88. For a complete listing of the courts, see pages 60-61.

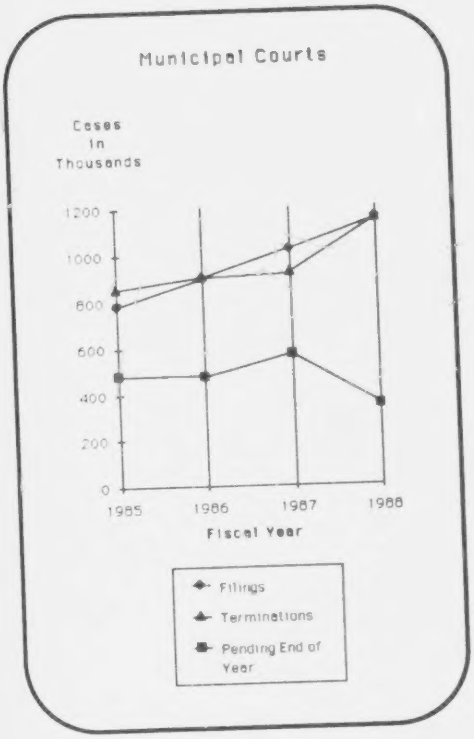
Municipal Courts

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

During FY 88, municipal courts had 1,154,488 new cases filed, an increase of 13.1% from the 1,020,736 cases filed in FY 87. Total case terminations increased significantly, 24.9%, from 917,157 in FY 87 to 1,145,850 in FY 88. The year-end pending caseload figure is dramatically reduced from the beginning pending figure, but the reduction is caused primarily by the -224,457 statistical correction noted on the caseload activity chart.



Filings

As noted above, total case filings for the municipal courts increased 13% over the FY 87 figure, rising from a total of 1,020,736 filings in FY 87 to 1,154,488 in FY 88. Traffic case filings, which comprise the majority of municipal court caseload activity, increased 11.6% from 856,161 in FY 87 to 955,068 in FY 88. Within the traffic category, criminal traffic violation filings increased 3.4% from 127,631 in FY 87 to 146,352 filings for FY 88. Civil traffic violation filings increased from 697,982 to 775,431 over the same time period, an 11.0% increase.

Non-traffic misdemeanor filings rose from 145,689 in FY 87 to 166,240 in FY 88, an increase of 14.1%. Misdemeanor failure to appear (FTA) complaint filings rose from 18,884 in FY 87 to 33,165 this year, an increase of 75.6%.

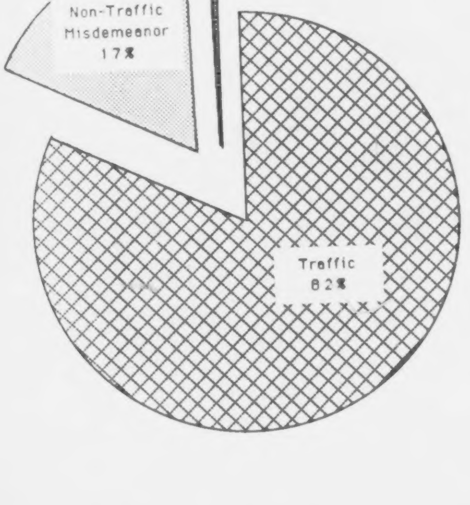
Municipal courts also experienced significant increases in the number of petitions filed related to domestic violence. During FY 87, a total of 972 petitions were filed for an Order of Protection as compared with 3,718 this year, an increase of 282.5%.

Terminations

Case terminations at the municipal court level rose by 24.9% from 917,157 in FY 87 to 1,145,850 in FY 88. Total traffic case terminations increased dramatically from 780,808 in FY 87 to 961,380 in FY 88, an increase of 23.1%. Within the traffic category, criminal traffic case terminations increased 30.3%, moving from 113,240 in FY 87 to 147,556 this year. The most voluminous increase was in the area of civil traffic where 782,496 cases were terminated this year as compared with 639,494 during FY 87, a 22.4% increase.

Non-traffic misdemeanor case terminations increased 33.6% from 124,097 in FY 87 to 165,846 in FY 88, and misdemeanor failure to appear complaint (FTA) terminations increased by 52% from 12,250 in FY 87 to 18,614 in FY 88.

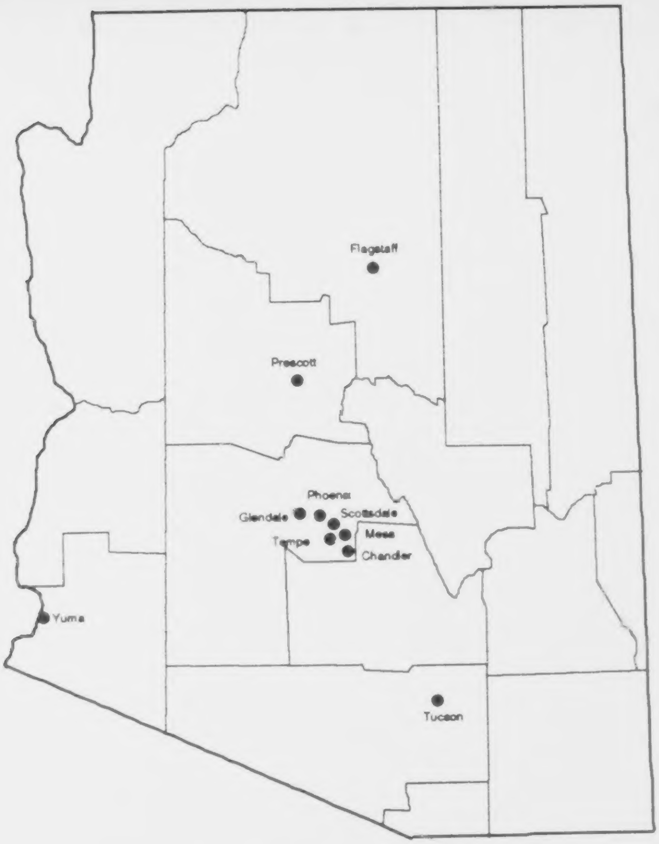
Case Filings Distribution



Driving Under the Influence

The total number of complaints for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs (DUI) filed in municipal courts during FY 88 (40,342) reflects a 7.5% decrease from the FY 87 figure of 43,621.

Terminations for DUI cases have increased 6.1% over the FY 87 figure, climbing from 37,757 to 40,073 in FY 88. Driving while intoxicated ending pending caseloads have decreased from 39,287 in FY 87 to 30,727 in FY 88, a decline of 21.8%.



This map identifies the ten municipal courts with the highest number of filings during FY 88. For a complete listing of the courts, see pages 67-68.

Administrative Office of the Courts

The Arizona Constitution charges the Supreme Court with responsibility for providing administrative supervision over all the courts of the State and states that the Chief Justice shall exercise this supervision. The constitution authorizes the Supreme Court to appoint an Administrative Director and staff to assist the Chief Justice in discharging his administrative duties.

> "The Arizona Constitution charges the Supreme Court with responsibility for providing administrative supervision over all the courts of the State . . ."

The matters assigned to the Administrative Director of the Courts vary from time to time, but generally consist of: 1) preparation, coordination, and representation of the judiciary's state budget requests to the legislature; 2) management of financial, personnel, and administrative matters for the Supreme Court; 3) management of special funds assigned to the supervision of the Supreme Court; 4) design and implementation of education programs for the judiciary; 5) administration of special programs assigned to the Supreme Court by the legislature; 6) service as administrative liaison to the other courts in the state and providing management assistance to them; and 7) undertaking special projects as assigned. For purposes of this report, the specific activities of each division of the Administrative Office of the Courts during FY 88 have been grouped according to these functional areas.

Budget, Financial, and Personnel Services

The Administrative Office of the Courts provides budget, accounting, payroll, purchasing, and personnel services to the Supreme Court and its employees. In addition to preparing the Supreme Court's budget, staff traditionally makes the budget presentation to the legislature for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and superior court state appropriations. For FY 88, the Administrative Office's budgetary responsibility totalled $37,060,400, while financial management/accounting responsibility was $42,363,619.

Special Funds Administered by the Supreme Court

Over the years the legislature has provided the Supreme Court with various funds to oversee and manage. All but two of these funds are used by the adult and juvenile probation departments. The two exceptions are the Case Processing Assistance Fund and the Drug Adjudication Grant Funds, for which all courts are eligible. They are described here. The others, as listed in the margin, are described in the superior court probation section of this report on pages 22 - 28.

In May 1988, the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission approved allocation of approximately $2.1 million to the Supreme Court for costs of increasing caseloads and related workload resulting from Arizona's new "war on drugs" laws, passed in 1987. The funds have been distributed to courts, probation departments, clerks of court, and public defender offices throughout the state.

In 1986, the Juvenile Delinquency Reduction Fund was merged with the "Juvenile Probation Office Foster Care" line item of the Department of Economic Security's budget and placed under Supreme Court supervision. The two were retitled as the "Juvenile Probation Services Fund."

CASE PROCESSING ASSISTANCE FUND

The Case Processing Assistance Fund (CPAF) derives from the 37% Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund surcharge on all fines and penalties assessed and collected by the courts. The Case Processing Assistance Fund receives 9% of the surcharge amounts collected. These monies are available to assist courts in enhancing their ability to process criminal and juvenile delinquency cases (A.R.S. §§ 41-2401 and -2403).

During FY 88, the Supreme Court revised its policies and administrative requirements and guidelines for the fund. First, the use of the fund was expanded to encourage innovative programs designed to reduce delay and to provide training in case management. Second, funding was limited so that courts in a single county could not receive more than 50% of the total amount of all grants awarded statewide. In addition, greater consideration was given to courts whose funding authority demonstrated commitment to the project by providing matching funds, either cash or in-kind, or by agreeing to assume the cost of the program in the future. Third, the funding cycle was shifted from the state's fiscal year to a federal fiscal year, October 1 through September 30. Fourth, in order to allow each county to prioritize its own needs, all applications must be co-signed by the presiding judge of the superior court. And finally, up to 10% of the previous year's revenue may be allocated for administrative costs.

Grant awards for October 1, 1987 through September 30, 1988 are shown in the accompanying chart.

Education Programs for the Judiciary

Most of the education programs offered by the Administrative Office of the Courts are organized, coordinated, and presented by the Education Services Division. However, since the training needs of the judiciary are so diverse and this division does not have an extensive staff, other divisions are also involved with providing training programs, especially in specific program areas.

EDUCATION SERVICES PROGRAMS

In accordance with Administrative Order 87-4, the Administrative Office of the Courts coordinates education programs throughout the state to assist all court employees, including probation personnel, in satisfying their requirements for orientation programs and 16 hours of continuing education programs. Arizona is the only state to have mandatory continuing education requirements for all court personnel.

Programs sponsored by the Education Services Division of the Administrative Office are listed in the accompanying chart. These programs, in conjunction with 2,757 local programs offered throughout the state, assisted court employees statewide in achieving 96 percent compliance with the training requirements outlined in the administrative order. The division also provided financial assistance for court personnel to attend out-of-state programs offered by organizations such as the National Judicial College, National College of Probate Judges, University of Virginia College of Law, and National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges.

In addition to facilitating education programs, Education Services produced two videotapes on court-related topics, "The Court's People: Administering Arizona's Justice," and "Pro Per: Representing Yourself in Arizona's Justice Courts." These tapes are intended for use in orientation, continuing judicial education, and public education programs throughout the state.

Expansion of the Education Services' media center and establishment of a resource library have aided in program development. In order to promote local training, materials in the media center and library are available to court personnel throughout the state.

OTHER EDUCATION ACTIVITIES

Training academies specifically related to preparing adult and juvenile probation officers to work in the Intensive Probation Supervision programs are offered twice a year and are organized by Administrative Office staff who work directly with the intensive supervision programs. In addition, this year the Administrative Office has sponsored training seminars in the areas of juvenile and criminal law, legal liabilities for probation officers, cultural issues, and basic skills enhancement. During FY 88, over 300 probation and detention officers attended these training events.

The Administrative Office is also preparing a self-paced course entitled "Children in the Arizona Legal System," for use by personnel associated with the Foster Care Review Board, Court Appointed Special Advocate, Juvenile Intensive Supervision, Juvenile Crime Reduction Fund, Juvenile Probation Services Fund, and State Aid to Probation programs. The course will cover the following topic areas: general state of public policy, juvenile court in Arizona, child protective and rehabilitative services, child welfare and placement, termination of parental rights, and juvenile court procedure.

As part of its effort to continually improve its programs, the Administrative Office plans to have two individuals who will provide ongoing, on-site training for Intensive Probation Supervision programs starting in FY 89.

Special Programs Administered by the Supreme Court

From time to time, new programs are developed, and the Supreme Court is asked to organize and implement them. A listing of these programs is provided in the margin.

Both the Foster Care Review Board system and the Court Appointed Special Advocate program enhance court services for dependent children. They are described in this section. The two remaining programs relate to probation activities and are described in the Superior Court Probation section of this report on pages 23 and 29.

FOSTER CARE REVIEW BOARD

The Foster Care Review Board system (FCRB) was established by law in September 1978, and placed under the administrative supervision of the Arizona Supreme Court.

Five-member volunteer citizen review boards are appointed in each county by the presiding juvenile court judge. Local boards review the case of each child adjudicated dependent and living in out-of-home placement for six months or more; subsequent reviews are held at least every six months.

STATEWIDE ACTIVITY SUMMARY
FOSTER CARE REVIEW BOARD

Appearances by Interested Parties at Review Meetings, e.g., Parents and Foster Parents	10,222
Cases Closed	777
Volunteer Hours Provided by Review Board Members	10,271

Pursuant to statute, the Department of Economic Security or other child welfare agency must establish a plan for the permanent placement of each child placed in foster care. The statutory purpose of the review boards is to determine what efforts are being made by the Department of Economic Security or other child welfare agency to carry out that plan. The boards then submit to the juvenile courts their recommendations and findings regarding the efforts and progress made to carry out the placement plan, together with any other recommendations they choose to make regarding the child.

The recommendations of review boards are advisory only. The juvenile court judges maintain responsibility for judicial determinations regarding each dependent child. Local review boards are appointed for every 100 children subject to review. In addition to the 50 local foster care review boards, a State Foster Care Review Board exists. Pursuant to A.R.S. § 8-515.04 (C), the State Foster Care Review Board produces an annual report each year to make recommendations to the governor, legislature, and Supreme Court regarding foster care statutes, policies, and procedures.

The volunteer board members commit a substantial amount of their time and energy to accomplishing the goals of the program. The sustained efforts of these volunteers have been the catalyst in the success of the Arizona Foster Care Review Board program. This dedication contributes significantly to the recognition of Arizona's FCRB system as a national model.

COURT APPOINTED SPECIAL ADVOCATE (CASA) PROGRAM

The Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) Program began in Maricopa County on October 1, 1985. Rule 22.1, Rules of Procedure for the Juvenile Court, authorizes the establishment and operation of CASA programs in accordance with the policies and standards established by the Supreme Court.

A CASA is a carefully screened, specially trained volunteer who is appointed by the presiding juvenile court judge to act as an advocate for children who have become wards of the court as a result of severe abuse and neglect or abandonment. CASA's speak exclusively for the best interest of the child.

The CASA volunteer has three main roles: 1) to conduct an independent investigation of the case and advocate for needed services for the child and family; 2) to serve as the "eyes and ears of the court", providing written reports and testimony to the juvenile court judge to help the judge make the best decision possible; and 3) to be a consistent person, acting as a trusted adult and a "watchdog" for the child throughout the court proceedings, ensuring that permanency is achieved as quickly as possible with the least amount of trauma to the child.

The CASA Program operates in four counties: Maricopa, Pima, Coconino, and La Paz. Requests for assistance in establishing a CASA Program have been received from three additional presiding juvenile court judges. The establishment of CASA Programs is especially vital in rural areas where resources and services are limited.

The program is currently supported primarily with federal funding from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Additional funding is provided by the U.S. Department of Justice, the Junior League of Phoenix, and the state. During the 1989 legislative session, state funding will be requested to implement the program statewide.

Administrative Liaison and Management Assistance

Over the last four years the Supreme Court has become increasingly aware of local courts' needs for guidance and assistance to implement new laws and administer the courts. As a result, the Administrative Office has allocated more staff resources to address those needs.

PROCEDURES AND LEGAL RESEARCH

As part of the Supreme Court's effort to improve court administration throughout Arizona, during FY 88 Administrative Office staff have been involved with a number of projects undertaken by the Council on Judicial Administration to improve court operations. For example, the Advisory Committee on Jury Management is looking at the sufficiency of Arizona statutes and rules with respect to juries, as well as the sufficiency of jury management procedures. And, the Advisory Committee on Records Management will be developing statewide standards and updating the existing schedules for court records retention and destruction. Although no formal committee has been appointed, staff is working on minimum court facility standards and facility guidelines for both general and limited jurisdiction courts.

Staff also worked with the Council on Judicial Administration's Advisory Committee on Procedures for Limited Jurisdiction Courts to distribute revisions to the proposed Rules of Criminal Procedure for Limited Jurisdiction Courts.

Detailed court management review reports were prepared for three limited jurisdiction courts during FY 88. In addition, technical assistance was provided to several individual courts in the areas of space and facility needs, calendaring practices, and bond and fee schedules.

Staff has also been added to respond to requests for legal research and analysis. The following topics were among those addressed during the year: the unauthorized practice of law by clerks of court, the collection/suspension of various new surcharges and fines, acceptable political activities for court employees, the appropriate relationship between appointed municipal court judges and their town/city council, the appropriateness of municipal judges holding other municipal offices, provision of insurance for individuals placed on work service, and indigent defense issues.

". . . the Administrative Office is coordinating development of a statewide juvenile case classification system."

In conjunction with juvenile court directors and presiding juvenile court judges, the Administrative Office is coordinating development of a statewide juvenile case classification system. This system will contain valid risk assessment, needs assessment, and workload criteria components. Juvenile courts in five counties (Coconino, Maricopa, Pima, Yavapai, and Yuma) have volunteered to serve as test sites for the initial risk assessment model. This model will be tested and evaluated through early 1989 with expansion to other juvenile courts beginning soon thereafter. Arizona's juvenile case classification system will serve as a predispositional tool for juvenile court judges and will result in improved supervision. The goal for this project is to establish a fully operational classification system throughout Arizona that considers local and regional differences. The system will be integrated into juvenile court automated systems, which will allow for continuous evaluation and updating as needed.

AUTOMATION AND DATABASE MANAGEMENT

On July 7, 1987, the Council on Judicial Administration's Advisory Committee on Information Systems was formed. In the appointment order, the Chief Justice stated that information systems "should be developed and implemented at the local level under the direction and control of the judiciary." Other principles set forth in the order include the development of common data definitions for use throughout the judiciary and the use of uniform information systems where feasible. In January 1988, the committee conducted a survey to determine the status of automation in each Arizona court. The information collected will be analyzed and used as a basis for planning future automation projects.

Since 1986, staff of the Administrative Office has been developing and adding enhancements to the LOwer Court Information System (LOCIS), designed for use by small- to medium-sized municipal and justice of the peace courts. The program provides caseload management functions for traffic, criminal, and civil cases. It also handles financial procedures such as accounts receivable. By the end of FY 88, LOCIS was installed in over 45 courts throughout Arizona. During the year, Administrative Office staff developed a local area network (LAN) version of LOCIS, which allows courts to use networked personal computers to share access to the caseload data on the system.

Considerable time has also been devoted to developing an automated recordkeeping program for probation departments. Development of the Arizona Probation Management Information System (APMIS) began in 1986. APMIS was designed to establish a standardized statewide database management information system for rural probation departments in Arizona. The APMIS system has two modules, one for juvenile probation data and one for adult probation data. APMIS is the primary source of information pertaining to adult and juvenile probation activity in the rural counties of Arizona. It provides probation departments with a tool for meeting their reporting requirements and maintaining case management information on their probation caseloads. The design of the system provides growth potential and flexibility for each department.

Special Projects of the Supreme Court

The Supreme Court frequently asks the Administrative Office to undertake special projects on its behalf. Some of these are relatively short-term projects and others continue for several years.

One of the Court's current long-term projects is design and construction of the Arizona Courts Building to house the Supreme Court and its support staff, including the Administrative Office of the Courts; the Court of Appeals, Division One, and its support staff; the state law library; and the Commission on Judicial Qualifications. Great progress was made on this project in FY 88. On March 3, 1988, then Acting Governor Rose Mofford signed a key piece of legislation allowing lease-purchase financing to be used for the construction of several new state office buildings, including the Arizona Courts Building. This cleared the way for the project to be reactivated with bids being accepted shortly after the start of FY 89 and the actual construction to begin by January 1989. Construction is projected to take eighteen to twenty months, with occupancy to occur in July or August of 1990.

Planning for the Commission on the Courts was a relatively short-term project as projects go, but the impact of that planning and the commission will definitely be long-term. Administrative Office staff prepared and submitted to the State Justice Institute a grant application for funding to help finance the Arizona Commission on the Courts. In September 1987, the preliminary application was approved and actual organization of the commission and its work schedule began.

Funding was approved March 1, 1988 and actual formation of the commission began. Once staff is hired for the commission, the Administrative Office will perform a more limited, general oversight function. (For additional information on the commission see pages 41 - 42.)

The Administrative Office also staffed the task force assigned by the Chief Justice to implement dramatic new legislation that put Arizona at the forefront of states with laws using automatic assignment of income as a means for ensuring child support payments. Staff worked extensively with judges, attorneys, child support enforcement personnel, and representatives of the private sector in developing policies, procedures, instructional materials, and forms related to the new statutory provisions requiring income of obligors to be automatically assigned for child support orders entered or modified after January 1, 1988. All work in this area was coordinated through the Council on Judicial Administration and its advisory committee on child support. The child support legislation also required each county to establish an expedited process for establishing and enforcing child support and visitation orders. Work on implementation of these plans is continuing.

During the 1988 legislative session, the Administrative Office assisted in the preparation and presentation of justification to support legislation for a fifth panel of judges for the Court of Appeals, Division One, and legislation for state funding of the superior court. The Court of Appeals legislation was passed for a fifth panel, which will begin operation July 1, 1989. State financing legislation, on the other hand, while passed by both the Senate Government and Judiciary Committees, was held by the Senate Appropriations Committee, largely due to the significant state deficit that loomed during the session.

"PALS is an interactive computer program designed as an innovative literacy teaching method . . ."

One of the most unique and effective special projects pursued during FY 88 was the implementation of the Principles of the Alphabet Literacy System (PALS) reading labs. PALS is an interactive computer program designed as an innovative literacy teaching method that can help adults and adolescents achieve higher reading and writing levels. In December 1986, the Joint Task Force on Adult Illiteracy presented former Governor Bruce Babbitt with a report on illiteracy in Arizona. The report revealed that 85% of Arizona's prison population had not received a high school diploma, 40% of the prison population was unable to read and write, and that a portion of the cost of incarceration and unemployment could be attributed to illiteracy. The report also noted a correlation between illiteracy and many social ills including drug usage and delinquency. Recognizing the strong link between illiteracy and unlawful behavior, the Supreme Court provided partial funding for the PALS program in an effort to address the illiteracy problems of adults and juveniles under the supervision of Arizona's courts.

The six PALS labs established in FY 88 were jointly funded and operated by the Juvenile Crime Reduction Fund, local school districts, adult and juvenile probation departments, and community literacy organizations. Preliminary evaluation results from the original PALS lab site show that all of the students who completed the course made gains in their reading scores. No students attending that lab were suspended and only one student dropped out of school. Improvements in self concept, time on task, and job skills are results beyond the originally stated goals. During FY 89 the PALS program will be expanded to provide additional lab sites statewide.

Supreme Court Committees & Commissions

Commission on the Courts

The Supreme Court appointed the Commission on the Courts in June 1988. The idea for a Commission on the Courts grew out of a series of planning meetings conducted by the Chief Justice in late 1986 and early 1987. These discussions revealed that the Arizona judiciary is facing a number of critical issues, some resulting directly from the need for further integration and unification of the judicial system as provided in the language of the state constitution.

The areas of critical need are quite diverse. For example, some courts are experiencing significant funding problems leading them to question local budgeting processes. Other courts are experiencing rapidly expanding caseloads without sufficient financial, personnel, or facilities resources to meet these challenges. In addition, new legislation continues to impose additional burdens on the courts at a time when the system as a whole is struggling to handle its existing workload. With all of these pressures on the court system, the critical question is, "How will the judiciary meet these challenges and continue to be a viable court system by the year 2000?"

"How will the judiciary meet these challenges and continue to be a viable court system by the year 2000?"

The Chief Justice chose to address this question by appointing a broad-based cross section of citizens to study the court system and develop recommendations for improving the courts. This approach is expected to be especially effective because it involves people with diverse backgrounds, skills, and viewpoints.

Fortunately, the State Justice Institute awarded the Court a $158,000 grant to partially cover the expenses of the commission. The institute was interested in the project because of its approach to addressing the critical issues facing judicial departments nationwide, and its action-oriented approach toward implementation of the changes that are recommended.

During its 18-month lifespan, the commission will focus its attention on charting a course to improve the Arizona judiciary and guide it toward meeting the challenges of the next twelve years. To this end, the commission intends to accomplish the following:

— Develop a long-range plan for the judiciary through the year 2000;

— Prepare specific recommendations and strategies for improving the court system;

— Provide the Supreme Court with an action-oriented process for accomplishing change; and — Promote the development of a receptive environment for change, both within and outside of the judicial system.

The work of the commission will be carried out by four individual task forces focusing on: court organization and administration, court productivity, dispute resolution alternatives, and children and families in the courts. Each task force will be chaired by a member of the commission and include six other commission members. Task force membership will be rounded out by experienced individuals from the legal system, courts, and the public at large who have particular interest and expertise in the designated subject area. The task forces will examine the existing court system and analyze to what extent programs and procedures that have proven successful in other states might be used in Arizona.

The Task Force on Court Organization and Administration will examine the internal organization of the courts and the administrative structure of the court system overall. It will look at the jurisdiction of Arizona's courts and the differing concerns of administering courts in urban and rural areas. Among other things, the task force will examine the adequacy of court rules and procedures, methods for further integration of the judicial system, and the effect of various methods of court financing on judicial administration.

The Task Force on Court Productivity will study case processing systems and innovative programs within Arizona, as well as those in other states, with an aim toward improving court productivity and case management techniques. The task force will look closely at ways of reducing both court delay and the cost of litigation.

The four points of this Native American symbol represent the interrelated task forces comprising the Commission on the Courts.

The Task Force on Dispute Resolution will study and evaluate existing methods of resolving conflicts and will make recommendations for using a broader spectrum of dispute resolution techniques. It will consider numerous alternatives including litigation, court-annexed arbitration, mediation, small claims, settlement conferences, multi-door courthouses, community dispute resolution centers, and summary trials.

The Task Force on Children and Families in the Courts will deal with issues related to how children and families are treated in the judicial system, focusing on the areas of dependency, delinquency, and domestic relations. After evaluating the current system and considering alternatives, the task force will develop recommendations for enhancing the effectiveness and quality of services in these areas.

Each task force will report to the commission on its research and evaluation activities, recommendations for change, and plan for implementing the recommendations. The commission will review the task force reports and submit specific recommendations to the Supreme Court for consideration. The Court will review the recommendations, decide which recommendations to support, and establish priorities for implementation. Where appropriate, legislation, rule changes, or other procedures will be prepared to implement the recommendations.

The work of the task forces is expected to be completed in September 1989, with the commission's work extending through the 1990 legislative session.

Commissions on Judicial Appointments

The Arizona Constitution provides for merit selection of judges for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and Superior Court in counties with a population of 150,000 or more (counties with lesser population may choose to use the merit selection process, but to date none have done so). Commissions on Judicial Appointments, referred to as Judicial Nominating Commissions, are the core of the merit selection system. There are three commissions: the Commission on Appellate Court Appointments, the Commission on Trial Court Appointments in Maricopa County, and the Commission on Trial Court Appointments in Pima County.

"The Arizona Constitution provides for merit selection of judges . . ."

Each commission has nine members. Five non-lawyer members are selected by the Governor and three attorney members are selected by the State Bar; all are then nominated by the Governor and must be confirmed by the State Senate. The Chief Justice of the Arizona Supreme Court presides over each commission and is thus a ninth member; however, the Chief Justice votes only in the case of a tie. Commission members serve staggered four-year terms.

Pursuant to the constitution, within 60 days of a vacancy in the office of a justice or judge of a court of record using the merit selection system, the appropriate commission must submit at least three names to the Governor to fill such vacancy. When three or four persons are nominated, not more than two may be members of the same political party; when more than four persons are nominated, not more than 60 percent may be from the same political party. If the commission does not submit nominations within 60 days after a vacancy occurs, the Governor may appoint any qualified person to fill the vacancy. If the Governor does not appoint one of the commission's nominees within 60 days after the names are submitted, the Chief Justice makes the appointment.

Judges appointed to office under the merit selection system initially hold office for a term that ends 60 days following the next regular general election after a two-year term of office. At the election, voters indicate "yes" or "no" on the issue of retaining the judge or justice. If retained, the judge serves a full regular term and then the retention process repeats itself. If a judge is not retained, the office is vacated upon expiration of the term and the appropriate commission begins its nominating task once again.

Commission on Judicial Qualifications

The Commission on Judicial Qualifications was established in 1970 pursuant to Article VI.I of the Arizona Constitution to review and investigate, when indicated, complaints against justices of the peace, superior court judges, and appellate court judges. In addition, the commission has jurisdiction over candidates for judicial office, judges pro tempore, and retired judges sitting at the request of a presiding judge. The commission does not have jurisdiction over municipal court judges, referees, or court commissioners at this time; however, the November 1988 general election ballot will include a referendum measure to amend the constitution by placing municipal court judges under the commission's jurisdiction and changing the name of the commission to Commission on Judicial Conduct. Currently, the commission will investigate allegations against municipal court judges if requested to do so by the Arizona Supreme Court.

The commission is empowered to investigate the following matters:

- A judge who pleads guilty or no contest or is found guilty of a crime punishable as a felony under Arizona or federal law, or any other crime that involves moral turpitude under such law.
- The disability of a judge that seriously interferes with the performance of his or her duties and is or is likely to become permanent.
- Action by a judge that constitutes wilful misconduct in office.
- Action by a judge that constitutes a wilful and persistent failure to perform his or her duties.
- Action by a judge that constitutes habitual intemperance.
- Conduct by a judge that is prejudicial to the administration of justice that brings the judicial office into disrepute.

After an investigation, the commission may proceed in one of three ways. It may (1) dismiss the complaint as frivolous or beyond its constitutional jurisdiction; (2) initiate informal remedial measures such as conferring with the judge in question; or (3) initiate a formal inquiry. Most meritorious complaints are resolved using informal, remedial measures that are considered to be beneficial and instructive to the judge in question.

"After an investigation, the commission may proceed in one of three ways."

The commission does not have authority to publicly censure or remove a judge from office. It can only recommend to the Supreme Court that such action be taken after it has conducted a formal inquiry by holding an evidentiary hearing to make findings of fact and formulate its recommendation. The activities of the commission are confidential until such time as formal recommendations are filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

ACTIVITY OF THE COMMISSION ON JUDICIAL QUALIFICATIONS

Activity	1978	FY 88
Public Requests for Information	25	362
Cases Opened by the Commission	10	99
Formal Inquiries Filed	2	3
Formal Hearings Held	- -	2
Disciplinary Recommendations Filed with the Supreme Court	- -	2

The commission has nine members who each serve a four-year term. The Supreme Court appoints two judges of the Court of Appeals, two superior court judges, and one justice of the peace. The Board of Governors of the State Bar of Arizona appoints two lawyers to the commission. The Governor appoints two citizen members whose appointment is confirmed by the Senate.

Ten years ago, for calendar year 1978, there were 25 public requests for information, 10 cases opened by the commission, and 2 formal inquiries filed. No formal hearings were held. During FY 88, despite the dramatic increase in public requests for information (362), the number of formal inquiries filed has only increased by one.

Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee

The Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee was established by the Supreme Court in 1976. The purpose of the committee is to receive and research inquiries regarding judicial ethics and to submit formal advisory opinions to the Arizona Supreme Court for consideration. If approved, the Supreme Court distributes these advisory opinions to all judges.

During FY 88, the committee rendered advisory opinions based on the following questions:

- What canons of ethics are applicable to lawyers who serve as part-time judges pro tempore for three weeks or less per year?

- Can an official in the executive branch of city government serve as a full-time or part-time city judge?

- Can an Arizona judge conduct a continuing judicial education seminar in another state in which he would direct an actual settlement conference?

- To what extent may a magistrate aid in the preparation of a criminal complaint presented by a law enforcement officer that will later be signed by that officer?

- To what extent may court clerks assist parties in completing forms and preparing pleadings to be filed with the clerk?

- Is it proper for a judge or court to retain a portion of the fee charged by a private defensive driving school for defendants ordered to attend that school by the judge or the court?

- Are judges entitled to keep fees or gratuities for weddings performed on court premises during regular court hours?

Council on Judicial Education and Training

To the end that judicial independence and competence might be preserved and reinforced as essential elements of our system of government, in November 1983 the Arizona Supreme Court established an educational system for all judges and employees of the Arizona judiciary. The Court also created the Council on Judicial Education and Training (COJET) to assist in the development and implementation of education policies and standards for judges, probation officers, and other court personnel at all levels of the judicial system.

The Council is comprised of the following members: a Supreme Court justice, a Court of Appeals judge, two judges from the superior court (one representing rural areas, one representing urban areas), one justice of the peace and one municipal court judge (one to be a lawyer and one a non-lawyer), the administrative director or deputy director of the Administrative Office of the Courts, a trial court administrator, two chief probation officers (one from juvenile probation, one from adult probation, with one representing urban areas and the other rural areas), a superior court clerk, the deans of the state's two law schools or their designees, the chairperson of the continuing legal education committee of the State Bar of Arizona, and such other members as may be appointed at the discretion of the Chief Justice.

The Council is authorized to establish such advisory committees as it deems necessary to assist it in carrying out its responsibilities. It also approves and recommends educational programs submitted by judicial, public, and private agencies and education institutions.

In late 1986, the Council recommended several major changes in the Court's education policies and standards in order to improve the quality of educational programs conducted across the state. This was accomplished, in part, by proposing orientation and continuing education standards for all judges and employees in the judicial system. The Supreme Court approved this proposal in January 1987 and it became effective July 1, 1987. As a result, Arizona is the only state in the nation to establish education standards for all court personnel.

In accordance with these standards, all judges must complete an orientation program and 16 hours of approved coursework each fiscal year. Since all judges are required to attend an annual judicial conference designated by the Supreme Court, education hours for the conference can contribute toward the coursework requirement.

All court administrators, probation officers, clerks, and other court personnel must also receive job-related orientation (where applicable) and complete 16 hours of approved coursework each year.

The primary focus of the Council during FY 88 was facilitating implementation of the revised educational policies and standards. The Council met twice to address issues of compliance, course accreditation, and local training. Its efforts were directed at supporting and promoting continuing education within the judiciary throughout the state.

At the conclusion of FY 88, the Arizona judiciary achieved 96 percent compliance with the educational policies and standards - an exciting culmination to the first year of mandatory education requirements.

"Arizona is the only state in the nation to establish education standards for all court personnel."

Council on Judicial Administration

In response to the continued growth of the Arizona judiciary and the need for greater coordination among the various components of the judicial system, in May 1987, the Supreme Court created the Council on Judicial Administration (COJA). This Council advises the Supreme Court on the development and implementation of policies and procedures related to the integration of the judicial system and the administration of the courts.

The COJA membership is comprised of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the chief judges of the Court of Appeals, the presiding judges of the superior court, a juvenile court judge, a justice of the peace, a municipal court judge, the administrative director of the courts, and other such judges as appointed by the Chief Justice. All those who are members by virtue of the positions they hold retain membership for as long as they hold their respective positions; appointed members may have terms of varying lengths and may be reappointed to serve successive terms.

COUNCIL ON JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION ADVISORY COMMITTEES

- Child Support
- Court Finances
- Drug Testing
- Implementation of Drug-Related Legislation
- Information Systems
- Jury Management
- Juvenile Courts
- Legislation
- Probation
- Procedures for Limited Jurisdiction Courts
- Records Management
- Risk Management
- Rules
- Standards for the Defense of Indigents

COJA members study the internal operations of the courts, recommend uniform administrative practices and procedures, coordinate the judiciary's legislative agenda, and develop programs to improve judicial administration and communication throughout the judicial system. COJA also advises the Council on Judicial Education and Training on educational needs relating to judicial administration in Arizona.

In addition, COJA serves as an "umbrella" for many committees and activities, some of which were operational prior to its formation. New advisory committees are formed as needed. Committee members include not only COJA members, but judicial personnel from throughout the state and in some instances non-judicial personnel. Most of the work done by COJA is accomplished through the use of these committees.

During FY 88, COJA provided considerable assistance to the Supreme Court in several areas including the following: implementation of new statutes related to wage assignments and expedited process; promulgation of Rule 28, Rules of the Supreme Court, related to review of proposed court rules; developing proposed standards for indigent defense; reviewing proposed rules of procedure for limited jurisdiction courts; creating a plan for statewide court automation; planning implementation of the state's new tax court; and reviewing proposed victim's rights legislation.

Appendix A

1988 Legislation Affecting the Courts

Legislative Summary

In its second regular session, the Thirty-Eighth Arizona Legislature addressed a number of issues specifically related to the judicial branch of government. Of the 928 bills that were introduced, 351 actually became law. The following section summarizes several new laws that afffect the courts in Arizona.

Criminal & Adult Probation Issues

Chapter 194; HB 2087 On conviction for a marijuana misdemeanor, a condition for probation is completion of eight hours of anti-drug instruction or 24 hours of community service. The cost of these programs may be assessed to the probationer.

The director of the Administrative Office or his designee is named as a member of the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission and the Drug Enforcement Task Force. It is no longer a requirement that funds from the Commission be used for the arrestee drug testing program, but it is still authorized.

Chapter 301; SB 1458 Creates a new crime of sexual assault of a spouse. It is currently a defense to the charge of sexual assault that the victim was the defendant's spouse at the time of the assault. Classifies the first conviction for sexual assault against a spouse as a class 6 felony, but permits the judge discretion to enter judgment for a class 1 misdemeanor with mandatory counseling. Subsequent convictions are punished as a class 2 felony.

Chapter 324; SB 1032 Enhances the ability of the courts to utilize intensive probation supervision in the community as an alternative to incarceration for certain non-dangerous offenders.

Permits the superior court in each county to create a community punishment program. These are specialized programs for persons placed on regular or intensive probation who are identified by the court as candidates for increased conditions of probation in order to better protect the community and rehabilitate the offender. The program will make resources available for additional surveillance and supervision, specialized drug counseling, psychiatric or psychological services, and enforcement of restitution and community services. Current fiscal year funding is not provided.

Makes class 2 and 3 felons who would otherwise be granted regular probation eligible for intensive probation services.

Modifies conditions for revocation of parole to require the court to revoke intensive probation and impose a term of imprisonment if the offender has committed an additional felony offense or has violated a condition of intensive probation which poses a serious threat or danger to the community.

Authorizes the court to use three-person intensive probation teams consisting of one probation officer and two surveillance officers. Existing two-person teams will continue to be limited to supervising 25 probationers, while the new three-person teams are permitted to supervise no more than 40 probationers at one time.

Non-Criminal Issues

Chapter 31; SB 1253 Expands the powers of court commissioners to hear child support matters under A.R.S. 12-298 (A) and (C) in addition to the powers granted court commissioners under rules of the Supreme Court. This provision was effective April 29, 1988.

Chapter 35; HB 2364 Allows the state and its political subdivisions, in addition to other defendants, to appeal adverse decisions in cases that have been appealed to the superior court, provided the case involves the validity of a "tax, import, assessment, toll, municipal fine or statute."

Chapter 119; HB 2397 Any unpaid person or volunteer performing services for a non-profit corporation is given the same protection against suit as the officers, directors or employees of the corporation, provided the services performed were within the scope of his or her authority.

Chapter 151; SB 1144 Raises the jurisdictional limit of small claims divisions from $500 to $1,000. Extends the time period within which a hearing date must be set from 30 to 60 days. Raises the court fees to $3.00 for filing, $3.00 for service by registered or certified mail, and $2.00 for filing an answer.

Chapter 166; SB 1027 Health professionals providing free services at non-profit clinics are immune from malpractice claims except in cases of gross negligence.

Chapter 185; HB 2131 In all cases where custody and visitation are contested, all other contested issues must be heard first only upon the request of one of the parties to the case. The parties may stipulate that visitation and custody issues shall be heard first by the court.

Chapter 297; SB 1156 Changes the adoption laws to permit an adult to adopt another adult who is his stepchild, niece, nephew, cousin, or grandchild; requires the consent of a spouse if a married person wishes to adopt an adult unless the parties are legally separated; allows the court to consider evidence without regard to the rules of evidence.

Chapter 314; HB 2322 Changes child support enforcement by requiring a presumption that certain unemployed non-custodial parents are capable of full-time employment at minimum wage; gives judgments for child support priority over all other unsecured judgments; requires DNA or blood tests in all paternity/maternity cases and eliminates jury trials in these cases; and increases the visitation rights of grandparents. Requires clerk to receive and convey notification of any lapse in a child's medical insurance coverage in Title IV-D cases.

Chapter 339; SB 1286 Creates a new fair housing code for the state. Prohibits discrimination in housing and defines penalties for violations. The Attorney General has responsibility for enforcement. All local fair housing ordinances are preempted.

Juvenile & Juvenile Court Issues

Chapter 63; SB 1031 Changes the title of "chief juvenile probation officer" to "director of juvenile court services", who shall serve at the pleasure of the presiding judge of the juvenile court. The presiding judge of the juvenile court will set the qualifications and salaries for juvenile probation employees subject to rules and procedures approved by the Supreme Court. Authorizes juvenile judges to contract with D.O.C. to provide parole services within the county. Excuses adult probation officers covered by state risk management from furnishing a performance bond.

Chapter 274; HB 2203 Requires a fingerprint check of each employee of a contract provider for juvenile services if that employee in the course of his duties has direct contact with juveniles. Further requires a notarized statement from all such employees that they have never been convicted of, they have never committed, nor are they awaiting trial on the offenses listed in A.R.S. § 41-1750(I). If any employee has been convicted of, committed, or is awaiting trial for any of the stated offenses, the court may elect to cancel the provider's contract unless the employee is removed from direct contact with juveniles.

Requires prospective guardians and adoptive parents to be fingerprinted. Upon submission of fingerprint cards to DPS, DPS shall provide criminal history information directly to the requesting court. Permits DES to file guardianship petitions for foster children.

Administration & Recordkeeping Issues

Chapter 66; SB 1071 The Department of Corrections may not take custody of a convicted felon without a certified copy of the judgment and sentence that has been signed by the judge.

Chapter 111; SB 1202 Justice and municipal court clerks may be authorized by the court to administer oaths in the same manner as other court officers, clerks of courts of record, and notaries public.

Chapter 180; HB 2078 Subject to the approval of the county Board of Supervisors, constables are authorized to hire deputies, clerks, and other aides. Appointments must be in writing and filed in the office of the county recorder.

Chapter 214; HB 2065 Increases the fees the sheriff can charge for performing civil services such as serving subpoenas, writs, levying on property, etc.

Chapter 219; HB 2288 A Document Storage and Retrieval Fund is set up to help defray the costs of converting the superior court clerks' document system to micrographics or computer automation. Special fees, not to exceed $5, may be assessed in addition to certain filing and appearance fees. The presiding judge will administer the fund with approval for expenditures coming from the Board of Supervisors. Effective June 14, 1988.

Chapter 318; HB 2391 Provides for the waiver of court costs for indigent persons who fulfill certain conditions. Provides for a review of the petition for waiver before final judgment is entered and allows the court to impose costs at that time if the person no longer meets the requirements for the waiver.

DUI & Traffic Issues

Chapter 139; SB 1241 Reduces the aggregate time for anyone to register a motor vehicle in this state from seven to six months. Provides that 20% of the civil penalty shall be retained by the law enforcement agency which cites persons for certain violations. Increases the civil penalty for violation of A.R.S. Sec. 28-326(D), failure to register vehicle, from $100.00 to $300.00.

Chapter 210; SB 1373 Makes the penalty for flying an airplane while "under the influence" similar to that for DUI. However, when operating an airplane the unsafe level of alcohol is .04% instead of .1% for driving an automobile.

Chapter 246; HB 2303 Changes the offense of driving under the influence (DUI) by replacing "blood alcohol percentage" with "alcohol concentration"; makes it unlawful to be in physical control of a vehicle while under the influence of vapors from alcohol, drugs, or toxins; changes how any DUI conviction can be used to enhance punishment; and clarifies when a first time DUI offender remains eligible for a 60-day occupational license.

Judges, Judgeships, Elected Officials

Chapter 38; SB 1002 Adds one department (Dept. E) with three judges to Division One of the Court of Appeals. Two of the three additional judges are to be appointed from Maricopa County. Effective June 30, 1989.

Chapter 289; SB 1368 Authorized judicial salary increases effective January 1, 1989. The Chief Justice will earn $86,000. Other Supreme Court Justices will earn $84,000. Court of Appeals judges will earn $82,000. Superior court judges will earn $80,000.

Chapter 335; SB 1236 Authorizes county officers' salaries and provides the following salaries for the clerk of the superior court:

	1988	1989	1990	1991	1992
Maricopa/ Pima	32,000	36,645	38,367	40,171	42,000
Others	27,400	32,519	34,112	35,784	37,500

Miscellaneous

Chapter 268; SB 1148 Adds administrative director of the Supreme Court and one chief probation officer appointed by the Governor to the Arizona Criminal Justice Commission. Adds provisions concerning management of the Criminal Justice Information System.

Chapter 330; SB 1125 Establishes the Arizona Tax Court in the Maricopa County Superior Court to serve as the statewide venue for all suits involving a tax, impost or assessment. Allows hearings to be held in other counties. Requires written decisions, with a statement of facts and conclusions of law. Establishes a small claims procedure for cases where the amount of tax is less than five thousand dollars or the dispute involves property tax valuations or classifications or owner occupied property or property with a market value of one hundred thousand dollars or less. Provides for a special department in Division One of the Court of Appeals to hear appeals from the tax court. The Supreme Court shall adopt rules regarding the identification and assignment of actions to the tax court.

Constitutional Amendments

Proposition 102; HCR 2009 Would rename the Commission on Judicial Qualifications as the Commission on Judicial Conduct and expand its jurisdiction to include all judges in the state. Currently, municipal court judges are not under the Commission's jurisdiction. Would add two members, a city judge and a lay person, to the Commission. Would allow the Commission to recommend and the Supreme Court to order the suspension of a judge. Would extend members' terms to six years and stagger their expiration date.

Superior Court Caseload Statistical Definitions

The following definitions are included to afford the reader a better understanding of what the statistical data reported on the following pages represents. MISDEMEANOR - Defendants in criminal cases who are charged with a misdemeanor offense, i.e., those where the law provides for presumptive punishment that does not exceed six months incarceration and/or a fine of $1,000 for an individual or $20,000 for an enterprise.

UNCLASSIFIED CRIMINAL - Defendants in criminal cases who are charged with offenses that do not come under any of the other criminal case categories listed, e.g., peace bond complaints and fugitive actions.

LOWER COURT APPEALS - The number of civil traffic cases appealed and the number of defendants in traffic and non-traffic misdemeanor criminal cases who appeal a decision rendered in a city court or justice of the peace court.

CIVIL - Tort Motor Vehicle (includes all actions for damages for personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death arising from operation of a motor vehicle), Tort Non-Motor (includes all tort actions not listed in the Motor Vehicle category except medical malpractice. Examples: assault and battery, libel and slander, false imprisonment, and non-motor vehicle related personal injury or property damage), Medical Malpractice, Contract, Eminent Domain, Lower Court Civil Appeals, and Non-Classified Civil Cases.

DOMESTIC RELATIONS - Paternity, Maternity, Dissolution, Annulment, Legal Separation, County Attorney Petitions to Establish Support, Reciprocal Support, and other non-dissolution custody proceedings.

JUVENILE PETITIONS - Juveniles with petitions filed alleging the juvenile to be either delinquent or incorrigible. (See the definitions listed in the probation section for further information.)

Municipal Court Caseload Statistical Definitions

The following definitions are included to provide the reader with a better understanding of what the caseload statistical data on the following pages represents. For all case categories, the statistical data reflects the number of case filings for the year.

Case Categories

CRIMINAL TRAFFIC - Major traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes including driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, reckless driving, and other serious moving violations. Also includes all violations of Arizona Corporation Commission Motor Carrier Rules and Regulations and the "Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility" statutes.

TRAFFIC FTA - An additional charge resulting from a defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled criminal traffic proceeding. (Failing to appear at a civil traffic hearing results in a default judgment being entered and is not included here.)

CIVIL TRAFFIC - Minor traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes, including parking offenses, equipment offenses, and a number of minor moving offenses that have been designated as civil traffic violations.

NON-TRAFFIC MISDEMEANOR - All non-traffic misdemeanors, i.e., those where the law provides for presumptive punishment that does not exceed six months incarceration and/or a fine of $1,000 for an individual or $20,000 for an enterprise.

MISDEMEANOR FTA - An additional criminal charge resulting from the defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled hearing for a non-traffic misdemeanor offense.

FELONY COMPLAINTS - Title 13 violations designated as felonies, i.e., those where the law provides for presumptive punishment of at least eighteen months incarceration and/or a fine of up to $150,000 for an individual or $1,000,000 for an enterprise. Traditionally these have been filed in the justice of the peace courts, but A.R.S. § 22-402B provides authority for municipal courts to conduct preliminary hearings in cases within their geographic jurisdiction to determine whether the defendant should be held for trial in the superior court.

Case Activity

TRANSFERRED IN - The number of cases transferred in from other courts.

TRANSFERRED OUT - The number of cases transferred out to other courts.

STATISTICAL CORRECTION - The number of cases added or subtracted in order to correct statistical inaccuracies. Such changes are often made after a court conducts a physical case inventory.

Proceedings

COURT TRIAL - The number of trials commenced without a jury.

JURY TRIAL - The number of trials commenced in which a jury was sworn.

CIVIL TRAFFIC HEARING - Traffic violation hearings held under the Rules of Procedure in Civil Traffic Violations Cases.

FELONY PRELIMINARY HEARING - A hearing to determine whether the defendant should be held for trial in the superior court on a felony complaint.

INITIAL APPEARANCE HEARING - The first court proceeding with the defendant present, held within 24 hours of arrest. The purposes are to inform the defendant of the charges and his rights, and to determine the conditions of release, if any.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE HEARING - Hearings held to revoke or modify a domestic violence order of protection.

HARASSMENT HEARING - A hearing held to revoke or modify an Injunction Prohibiting Harassment.

MEMORANDUM

TO: FY 1988 Annual Judicial Report Recipients

FROM: Bill McDonald BM
Administrative Director

DATE: April 10, 1989

SUBJ: FY 1988 Annual Judicial Report Errata

Subsequent to our publishing the FY 1988 Annual Judicial Report, an error was discovered in the data on page 11, "Statewide Case Filing Information". Please make the appropriate changes in your copies of the report.

The first line on the page should read:

> "During FY 88, statewide filings for all of Arizona's courts totaled 1,919,104, as compared with 1,811,479 the previous year, an increase of 5.9%."

The table at the bottom of the page should read:

FY88 Statewide Filings

Court Level	Criminal	Civil	Traffic	Other	Total	% of Total
Supreme Court	406	371		342	1,119	0.1
Court of Appeals	2,062	851		736	3,649	0.2
Superior	25,176	60,371		56,328	141,875	7.4
Justice of the Peace	72,833	115,446	429,694		617,973	32.2
Municipal	199,420		955,068		1,154,488	60.1
TOTAL	299,897	177,039	1,384,762	57,406	1,919,104	100.0
% of Total	15.6	9.2	72.2	3.0	100.0

Because Supreme Court numbers are a small fraction of statewide filings, the row and column percentages in the table (and, consequently, the pie graphs in the middle of the page) are unaffected by these revisions.

The Administrative Office regrets the error and apologizes for any resulting inconvenience.

The Judicial Branch of Government

The judicial power shall be vested in an integrated judicial department consisting of a supreme court, such intermediate appellate courts as may be provided by law, a superior court, such courts inferior to the superior court as may be provided by law, and justice courts. Arizona Constitution, Article VI, Sec. 1.

The Supreme Court

The Arizona Supreme Court, which consists of five justices, has administrative authority over all courts in the state. The Chief Justice, who is elected by the other justices for a five-year term, is responsible for exercising the Court's supervisory power. To assist it in carrying out its various responsibilities, the Court appoints the Administrative Director of the Courts, the Clerk of the Supreme Court, law clerks, secretarial and clerical staff, and a central staff of attorneys.

The Supreme Court's constitutional jurisdiction includes appellate review, the issuance of extraordinary writs such as habeas corpus, and the power to make rules governing procedural matters in all the courts. Criminal cases involving the death penalty are appealed directly to the Supreme Court. Decisions of the Court of Appeals may be reviewed at the discretion of the Supreme Court. Through its rule-making authority, the Supreme Court regulates the activities of the State Bar of Arizona and oversees the admission of new attorneys to the practice of law. The Supreme Court also serves as the final decision-making body when disciplinary recommendations against Arizona judges are filed by the Commission on Judicial Qualifications.

The Court of Appeals

The Court of Appeals has two divisions. Division One, with twelve judges, is located in Phoenix; Division Two, with six judges, sits in Tucson. The court has appellate jurisdiction to determine all matters properly appealed from the Superior Court except for criminal cases where the sentence of death or life imprisonment has actually been imposed.

The geographical jurisdiction of Division One covers appeals from the Superior Court in the counties of Apache, Coconino, La Paz, Maricopa, Mohave, Navajo, Yavapai, and Yuma. Division Two receives its cases from the Superior Court in the counties of Cochise, Gila, Graham, Greenlee, Pima, Pinal, and Santa Cruz. In addition, Division One has statewide responsibility for reviewing decisions of the Industrial Commission and hearing Unemployment Compensation appeals from the Department of Economic Security.

Superior Court

On June 30, 1988, the Superior Court consisted of 101 judges sitting in 15 counties. The Superior Court is a trial court of general jurisdiction and is empowered to hear cases of equity and law involving real property; civil claims of $2,500 or more; felony prosecutions and misdemeanors not otherwise provided for by law; probate matters; and cases involving dissolution or annulment of marriage. The Superior Court has concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice of the Peace Courts over civil claims between $500 and $2,500. It also has exclusive jurisdiction in juvenile matters.

In counties with three or more Superior Court judges, the presiding judge may appoint court commissioners to perform the duties provided by law or Supreme Court rule. (Effective May 3, 1988, a commissioner may be appointed in any county regardless of size to hear and determine Title IV-D child support matters.) Commissioners usually determine matters where a default has been entered against a party and may preside at the initial appearance of a defendant charged with a crime. Adult and juvenile probation departments also operate under the supervision of the Superior Court.

Each county has a Clerk of the Superior Court who is elected at the general election. The responsibilities of the Clerk's Office are diverse and include maintenance of official court case files; certification of documents; collection of fees; and issuance of summonses, subpoenas, and marriage licenses. The Clerk serves as jury commissioner in all counties except Maricopa, Pima, and Yavapai; a separate jury commissioner is appointed in these three counties.

Justice of the Peace and Municipal Courts

Statewide there are 84 Justices of the Peace sitting in the same number of precincts. These judges are elected at the general election by voters in their respective precincts, and the regular term of office is four years. Municipal Courts are mandated by state law in each incorporated city or town. At the time of the 1988 personnel survey, there were 112 full-time and 58 part-time municipal judges throughout the state. Municipal judges are usually appointed by city or town councils. Both courts have jurisdiction to hear class 1, 2, and 3 misdemeanor cases and conduct preliminary examinations on felony complaints. Municipal Courts are empowered to hear matters arising out of violations of city or town ordinances. Virtually all traffic violation cases are filed in the Justice of the Peace or Municipal Courts. Justice of the Peace Courts also have civil jurisdiction over lawsuits involving less than $2,500.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

This report, The Arizona Courts: FY 88 Data Report, presents caseload, financial, and personnel information for all court levels, providing both statewide summary and detailed information on individual courts. It is intended to supplement the FY 88 Judicial Report for persons and agencies who are interested in or involved with budgeting, planning, and administration for Arizona courts.

The term "FY 88" in this report refers to the period beginning July 1, 1987, and ending June 30, 1988. All tables reflect this fiscal year period.

REPORT FORMAT

The sections in this report include: financial and personnel information, appellate courts, superior court, superior court probation, justice of the peace courts, and municipal courts. For easy reference, each section is identified by the appropriate heading centered on the page.

The following sections are included to provide an overview of the reported data and enhance the reader's understanding of the numerical information. Particular attention should be paid to the narrative and definitions at the beginning of each section and the statistical footnotes.

CASELOAD STATISTICS

Caseload statistics are compiled from monthly statistical reports submitted to the Supreme Court by the individual superior, justice of the peace, and municipal courts. Incomplete or inconsistent information where detected, is footnoted. While the statistics are checked for mathematical accuracy, they are unaudited. Justice of the peace and municipal court criminal statistics reflect "complaint filings", while superior court figures show the number of "defendants" charged.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The financial information published in this report is based on a survey of the courts conducted during August 1988. It is unaudited and, therefore, dependent on the reporting accuracy of the courts participating in the survey. An effort was made to identify all costs of court operations where the cost is directly attributable to the individual court's budget. The following definitions for the categories used in this report are included to provide a better understanding of the financial information.

Expenditures - includes those funds appropriated directly to the court by the immediate funding authority, state funds appropriated for local courts, and funds provided through grants. Expenditures attributable to the court, but included in the budgets of other departments or agencies rather than the court's own budget, are not included in these figures.

Personal Services	- amounts for salaries and wages for all personnel.
Fringe Benefits	- amounts for employer's cost of FICA, insurance, retirement contributions, etc.
Operating Expenses	- amounts for utilities, telephones, postage, insurance, rent, building maintenance, office supplies, and office equipment maintenance.
Travel	- amounts for personnel mileage, per diem, and lodging.
Professional Services	- amounts for court reporter costs, juries, attorney fees for indigent defendants, and mental institution charges, and additional contractual obligations.
Capital Expenses	- amounts for equipment purchases valued at over $100.
Additional State Funds	- state funds for specific programs, committees, or services that are appropriated to the Supreme Court. Where these funds are passed through to other courts for program operation, the expenditure is shown at that court level.
Federal Funds	- amounts received through such sources as federal revenue sharing, Title IV-D child support, and other federal programs.
Other Non-State, Non-Federal Funds	- amounts from non-governmental funding sources such as non-profit organization grants.

PERSONNEL INFORMATION

The personnel information contained in the report is based on a survey of the staffing levels of the Arizona judiciary as of June 30, 1988. Because of the vast number of job titles encountered within and between the different levels of courts, broad, general position groupings were developed to publish the information in a concise format.

Statewide Judicial Expenditures

The financial information shown below reflects the total FY 88 expenditures for all courts by level of court and funding source. The pie charts illustrate the percentage of expenditures by funding source and by court level.

The Arizona judiciary is funded almost exclusively by state and local governments. This year the state's funding contribution was 25.0%, an increase of 2.8% over the previous year. Over the past five years, the percentage of funds provided by municipalities and federal sources have changed very little; however, the percentages contributed by state and county sources have changed rather dramatically. During FY 84 the state contributed 10.8%, as compared with this year's 25.0%, and the counties contributed 73.3%, as compared with this year's 59.5%.

Over two-thirds (70.8%) of the total FY 88 judicial expenditures were allocated for services at the superior court level. The expenditures by court levels did not vary by more than 1% for any court level when compared with the FY 87 figures. In fact, the percentage of expenditures by court level has varied only slightly over the past five years. The FY 84 expenditure percentages were: Supreme Court 2.9%, Court of Appeals 3.5%, superior court 68.1%, justice courts 10.4%, and municipal courts 15.1%, as compared with the following FY 88 percentages: Supreme Court 2.9%, Court of Appeals 3.2%, superior courts 70.8%, justice courts 8.0%, and municipal courts 15.1%.

Statewide Expenditure Information

The statewide expenditure information below is provided for each of the court levels comprising the Arizona judiciary. The table shows specific line-item expenditures for FY 88. This data was compiled from responses to the Administrative Office of the Courts' financial survey conducted in August 1988.

Expenditures at the trial court level include funds received from non-appropriated sources. For example, monies received from adult and juvenile probation services fees are available for use by the adult and juvenile probation departments, and 9% of the Criminal Justice Enhancement Fund (allocated to the Supreme Court for the Case Processing Assistance Fund) is available to courts for processing criminal and delinquency cases. Amounts from these non-appropriated sources are shown at the court level where they are expended.

The Supreme Court also administers monies for numerous special programs such as intensive probation and court appointed special advocates. Amounts for these special programs are shown at the superior court level, where they are expended.

Superior Court

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

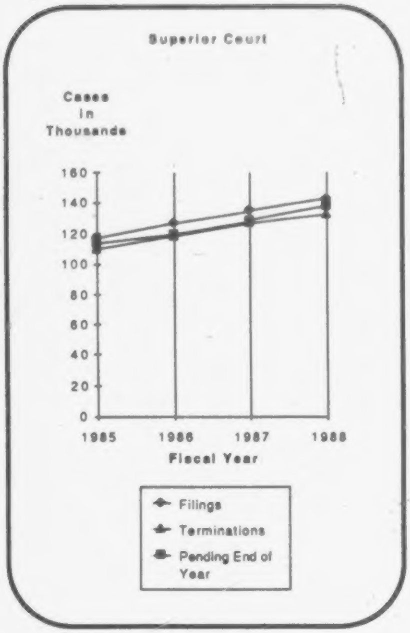
The caseload statistics contained here are based on unaudited case activity data reported monthly by the superior court in each county to the Arizona Supreme Court. Criminal statistics represent the number of defendants; all other statistics represent cases.

For six consecutive years, case activity in the superior court has reached a triple high - increased filings, increased terminations, and an increased ending-pending caseload.



Filing Activity

During FY 88, total case filings for the superior court increased from the 134,434 in FY 87 to 141,875, a 5.6% increase. The FY 88 figure represents a 42.5% increase over the 99,533 cases filed in calendar year 1984.

The largest volume increase in superior court filings occurred in the category of civil cases, which jumped from 53,063 in FY 87 to 60,371 in FY 88, an increase of 13.8%. Domestic relations cases, however, showed a decrease of 5.3% from 35,016 filings in FY 87 to 33,176 filings this year.

Total criminal case filings were up by 4.7% from 24,038 in FY 87 to 25,176 in FY 88. Felony filings have shown a 3.5% increase, from 21,373 in FY 87 to 22,123 in FY 88.

Other areas of increase include probate and domestic violence. Probate case filings have increased from 9,937 in FY 87 to 10,300 in FY 88, a 3.6% rise; domestic violence filings (petitions for order of protection) in superior court have increased by 9.9% from 644 in FY 87 to 708 in FY 88.

Termination Activity

Superior court case terminations increased 3.9% during FY 88, rising from 126,580 in FY 87 to 131,507 in FY 88. In comparing calendar year 1984 total case terminations (95,328) with those of FY 88, there has been a 32.9% increase in case terminations.

Coinciding with the increase in filings, the most voluminous increase in terminations was in the area of civil cases. Civil case terminations increased from 50,443 in FY 87 to 54,132 in FY 88, an increase of 7.3%. Total criminal case terminations reported an increase of 8.7% from 22,082 in FY 87 to 24,006 in FY 88.

Adult Probation

CASELOAD ACTIVITY

During FY 88, 10,223 adults were placed on probation, an increase of 3.7% over the 9,860 adults placed on probation in FY 87. In addition 21,676 adults were on probation at the beginning of the year, so a total of 31,899 adults were supervised by probation departments throughout the state during FY 88, an increase of 9.3% over the FY 87 figure. To gain some perspective on these figures, during calendar year 1984, 6,289 adults were placed on probation — the FY 88 figure represents a 56.8% increase over this figure. The total number of adults on probation at the end of FY 88 (23,821) represents a 42.75% increase over the 16,687 adults on probation at the end of calendar year 1984.

> ". . . 10,223 adults were placed on probation . . ."

The number of probation terminations increased 7.9% over FY 87 figure. While there was a 5.0% increase in the number of individuals receiving an early termination, there was a 3.1% decrease in the number of adults with a full-term discharge from probation. The most dramatic change was a 27.2% increase in the number of adults who were revoked from probation and sent to county jail or prison, 1,787 in FY 87 and 2,274 in FY 88. The number of "Other Terminations" also increased from 325 in FY 87 to 407 this year. Despite the increase in the number of adults whose probation was terminated, the total number of adults on probation increased 9.9%, from 21,676 on July 1, 1987 to 23,821 on June 30, 1988.

MONIES COLLECTED

Over the last several years there has been increased emphasis on requiring probationers to perform public service and on collecting fines, fees, and restitution payments ordered by the courts. This emphasis has paid off, literally.

Total collections are noted in the accompanying chart. All categories except reimbursement have shown increases of over 20%. As a point of reference, during calendar year 1984, total collections amounted to $4,096,944. Thus, the FY 88 figure, $7,061,340, represents a 72.3% increase over the 1984 figure.

TOTAL MONIES COLLECTED AND PUBLIC SERVICE HOURS

	FY 87	FY 88
Restitution	$2,279,152	$2,894,778
Reimbursement	207,031	186,241

Justice of the Peace Courts

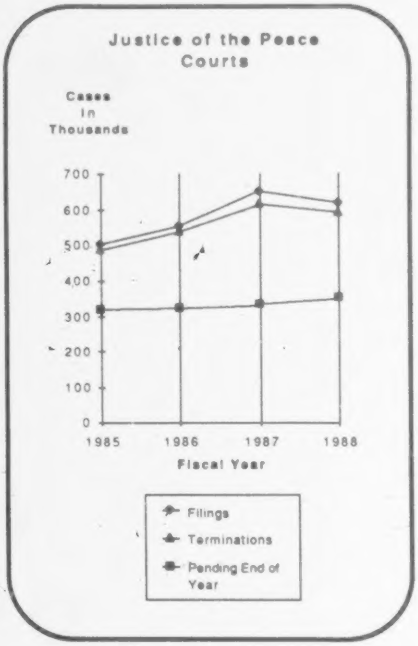
CASELOAD ACTIVITY

The total number of case filings in Arizona's justice of the peace courts during FY 88 decreased 5.2%, from 651,962 cases in FY 87 to 617,973 in FY 88. However, this overall decline results from decreases in just two categories: criminal traffic and the combined category of small claims and civil under $500. Statewide case terminations decreased 4%, from 615,086 in FY 87 to 590,187 in FY 88. The total number of cases pending increased by 5.4% from 334,562 on July 1, 1987 to 352,524 at year-end.



Filings

Traffic cases comprise the majority of the workload in justice courts. During FY 88, the number of traffic filings (including traffic-related failure to appear filings) decreased 8.9% from 471,534 in FY 87 to 429,694 in FY 88. During FY 88, a total of 234,009 criminal traffic cases were filed, a decrease of 16.0% from the 278,749 filings in FY 87. Civil traffic case filings increased 1.5% from 173,606 in FY 87 to 176,202 this year.

In contrast to the decrease in criminal traffic filings, the number of non-traffic misdemeanor case filings rose 3.3% from 44,538 in FY 87 to 46,028 in FY 88. Felony preliminary hearings have shown a slight increase, 2.6%, from 21,755 in FY 87 to 22,329 in FY 88. Domestic violence petitions decreased from 6,450 in FY 87 to 6,156 in FY 88, a decrease of 4.5%.

Total civil case filings increased by 5% from 109,968 in FY 87 to 115,446 in FY 88. Within this group, small claims and civil under $500 filings decreased 4.0%, but civil cases involving $500-2499 increased 2.3%, from 21,546 cases in FY 87 to 22,035 cases this year. Forcible detainer filings for FY 88 were up by 14.5%, increasing from 46,382 in FY 87 to 53,043 in FY 88.

Terminations

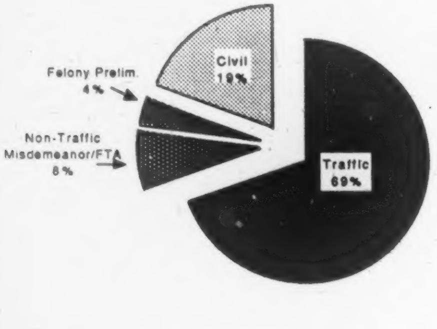
As previously noted, total terminations decreased 4% from the previous year's figure. However, the only actual case categories recording a decrease were criminal traffic, traffic failure to appear, and the combined category of small claims and civil under $500. Criminal traffic case terminations decreased 13% from 262,268 cases in FY 87 to 228,166 in FY 88. Traffic case failure to appear complaint determinations showed a decrease of 14.4% from 19,374 in FY 87 to 16,581 in FY 88. However, civil traffic case terminations showed a slight increase, 2.2%, from 171,676 case closings in FY 87 to 175,510 in FY 88.

Non-traffic case terminations for misdemeanor and misdemeanor failures to appear showed an increase over the figures for the previous year. Misdemeanor case terminations increased 3.6%, from 38,038 in FY 87 to 39,421 in FY 88. Misdemeanor failure to appear case terminations increased significantly, 47.9%, from 1,888 in FY 87 to 2,792 in FY 88.

Civil case terminations increased by 5.4% from 101,596 in FY 87 to 107,104 in FY 88. Within the civil category, there was a 6.3% decrease in terminations of small claims and civil under $500, but there was a 16.7% increase in forcible detainer case terminations, from 44,631 in FY 87 to 52,086 this year.

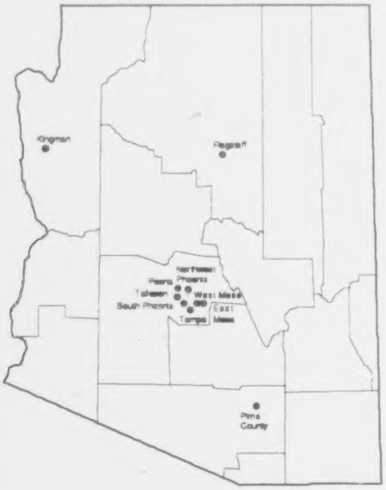
Felony preliminary hearing case terminations showed a slight increase of 1.8% from 20,246 in FY 87 to 20,613 in FY 88.

Case Filings Distribution



Driving Under the Influence

Case filings for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs (DUI) during FY 87 totaled 17,396 as compared with 14,413 in FY 88, a filing decrease of 17%. To provide some perspective, in FY 85 there were 15,639 DUI case filings; this year's figure represents a 7.8% decrease from that figure. DUI case terminations decreased by 11.9% from 16,016 in FY 87 to 14,110 in FY 88.



This map identifies the ten justice courts with the highest number of total filings during FY 88.

Justice Court Caseload Statistical Definitions

The following definitions are included to provide the reader with a better understanding of what the caseload statistical data on the following pages represents. For all case categories, the statistical data reflects the number of case filings for the year.

Case Categories

CRIMINAL TRAFFIC - Major traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes including driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, reckless driving, and other serious moving violations. Also includes all violations of Arizona Corporation Commission Motor Carrier Rules and Regulations and the "Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility" statutes.

TRAFFIC FTA - An additional criminal charge resulting from a defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled criminal traffic proceeding. (Failing to appear at a civil traffic hearing results in a default judgment being entered and is not included here.)

CIVIL TRAFFIC - Minor traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes, including parking offenses, equipment offenses, and a number of minor moving offenses that have been designated as civil traffic violations.

NON-TRAFFIC MISDEMEANOR - All non-traffic misdemeanor violations, i.e., those where the law provides for punishment that does not exceed six months incarceration and/or a fine of $1,000 for an individual or $20,000 for an enterprise.

MISDEMEANOR FTA - An additional criminal charge resulting from the defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled hearing for a non-traffic misdemeanor offense.

FELONY - Title 13 violations which have been classified as felonies, i.e., those where the law provides for a presumptive punishment of at least eighteen months incarceration and/or a fine of up to $150,000 for an individual or $1,000,000 for an enterprise. Justice courts have jurisdiction to conduct preliminary hearings in felony cases to determine whether the defendant should be held for trial in the superior court.

SMALL CLAIMS - Civil lawsuits filed under the small claims procedure; amounts are limited to under $500 and there are no appeals.

CIVIL UNDER $500 - Cases filed under the standard civil procedures in which the damages sought are less than $500.

Municipal Courts

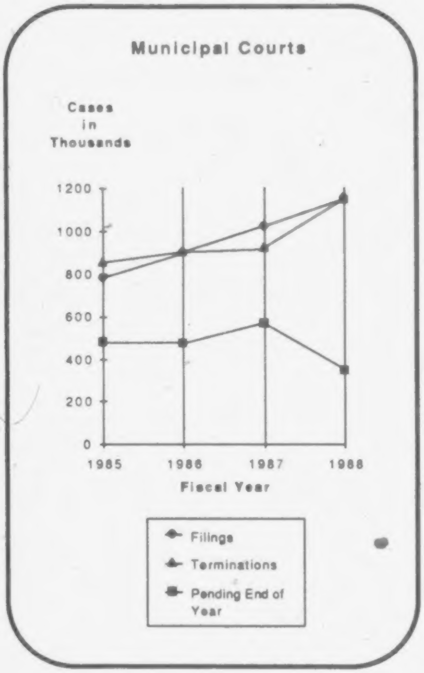
CASELOAD ACTIVITY

During FY 88, municipal courts had 1,154,488 new cases filed, an increase of 13.1% from the 1,020,736 cases filed in FY 87. Total case terminations increased significantly, 24.9%, from 917,157 in FY 87 to 1,145,850 in FY 88. The year-end pending caseload figure is dramatically reduced from the beginning pending figure, but the reduction is caused primarily by the -224,457 statistical correction noted on the caseload activity chart.

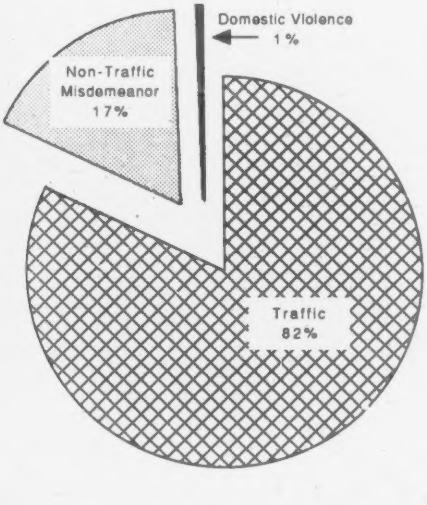


Filings

As noted above, total case filings for the municipal courts increased 13% over the FY 87 figure, rising from a total of 1,020,736 filings in FY 87 to 1,154,488 in FY 88. Traffic case filings, which comprise the majority of municipal court caseload activity, increased 11.6% from 856,161 in FY 87 to 955,068 in FY 88. Within the traffic category, criminal traffic violation filings increased 3.4% from 127,631 in FY 87 to 146,352 filings for FY 88. Civil traffic violation filings increased from 697,982 to 775,431 over the same time period, an 11.0% increase.

Non-traffic misdemeanor filings rose from 145,689 in FY 87 to 166,240 in FY 88, an increase of 14.1%. Misdemeanor failure to appear (FTA) complaint filings rose from 18,884 in FY 87 to 33,165 this year, an increase of 75.6%.

Municipal courts also experienced significant increases in the number of petitions filed related to domestic violence. During FY 87, a total of 972 petitions were filed for an Order of Protection as compared with 3,718 this year, an increase of 282.5%.



Case Filings Distribution

Municipal Court Caseload Statistical Definitions

The following definitions are included to provide the reader with a better understanding of what the caseload statistical data on the following pages represents. For all case categories, the statistical data reflects the number of case filings for the year.

Case Categories

CRIMINAL TRAFFIC - Major traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes including driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, reckless driving, and other serious moving violations. Also includes all violations of Arizona Corporation Commission Motor Carrier Rules and Regulations and the "Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility" statutes.

TRAFFIC FTA - An additional charge resulting from a defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled criminal traffic proceeding. (Failing to appear at a civil traffic hearing results in a default judgment being entered and is not included here.)

CIVIL TRAFFIC - Minor traffic violations contained in Title 28 of the Arizona Revised Statutes, including parking offenses, equipment offenses, and a number of minor moving offenses that have been designated as civil traffic violations.

NON-TRAFFIC MISDEMEANOR - All non-traffic misdemeanors, i.e., those where the law provides for presumptive punishment that does not exceed six months incarceration and/or a fine of $1,000 for an individual or $20,000 for an enterprise.

MISDEMEANOR FTA - An additional criminal charge resulting from the defendant's failure to appear at a scheduled hearing for a non-traffic misdemeanor offense.

FELONY COMPLAINTS - Title 13 violations designated as felonies, i.e., those where the law provides for presumptive punishment of at least eighteen months incarceration and/or a fine of up to $150,000 for an individual or $1,000,000 for an enterprise. Traditionally these have been filed in the justice of the peace courts, but A.R.S. § 22-402B provides authority for municipal courts to conduct preliminary hearings in cases within their geographic jurisdiction to determine whether the defendant should be held for trial in the superior court.

Case Activity

TRANSFERRED IN - The number of cases transferred in from other courts.

TRANSFERRED OUT - The number of cases transferred out to other courts.

STATISTICAL CORRECTION - The number of cases added or subtracted in order to correct statistical inaccuracies. Such changes are often made after a court conducts a physical case inventory.

Proceedings

COURT TRIAL - The number of trials commenced without a jury.

JURY TRIAL - The number of trials commenced in which a jury was sworn.

CIVIL TRAFFIC HEARING - Traffic violation hearings held under the Rules of Procedure in Civil Traffic Violations Cases.

FELONY PRELIMINARY HEARING - A hearing to determine whether the defendant should be held for trial in the superior court on a felony complaint.

INITIAL APPEARANCE HEARING - The first court proceeding with the defendant present, held within 24 hours of arrest. The purposes are to inform the defendant of the charges and his rights, and to determine the conditions of release, if any.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE HEARING - Hearings held to revoke or modify a domestic violence order of protection.

HARASSMENT HEARING - A hearing held to revoke or modify an Injunction Prohibiting Harassment.
